Evening Edition.

ATLANTA, JULY 23, 1873.

Summary of State News.

GRIFFIN.

On Saturday afternoon, Branch Bowdoin, shot at a negro man on Hill street Nobody hurt.——Mr. Aaron Schuerman, one of the moneyed men of Griffin, is going to transfer a hall in that place into a first-class theater. The scenery and equipments will all be of the very latest styles.——The colored people of Griffin will have a camp-meeting about the first of August. They have bought a grove on the edge of town, and intend erecting an harbor on it.—News.

AUGUSTA.

Last Sunday morning a lady on Greene street discovered that some one had stolen from the top drawer of her bureau two valuable diamond rings, and a plain gold ring, all worth about $400. On Monday morning the door-bell was rung by some unknown persons, and the rings discovered on the door-mat. It is supposed that a servant stole them, and then became frightened.——Two excursion trains heavily loaded went down to Milledgeville from Augusta on Sunday to hear Bishop Gross preach one of his great sermons. The money realized will be appropriated to a Catholic church to be built in Milledgeville.——On Monday, as the up train on the Port Royal Railroad was running at its usual rate, two negro girls attempted to cross the track about 1½ miles this side of Ellenton. One of them was knocked down by the cow-catcher. Her right leg was broken, her left leg injured, and one of her eyes wounded. She was taken on the train, and everything done to ease her sufferings. Chronicle and Sentinel.

COLUMBUS.

The colored people excurt to Atlanta on Thursday.——The railroad warehouse at Geneva, and the stores of Gus McCrary, and A. T. Chandler were broken into on Sunday night. A colored boy was shot at, but no one as yet caught.—Enquirer.

Two Columbus amateurs went out hunting on Monday. They mistook each other's hats for patridges. During the next ten minutes there was some of the poorest shooting and liveliest dodging on record. The young gentlemen returned home by different routes. They consider light colored hats very unfit for hunting purposes.

A negro woman of Columbus ate for her Sunday dinner half a bushel of green peas, and a few pounds of dried fruit, besides intermixing them with some dozen or so glasses of beer. The explosion occurred precisely at four o'clock that afternoon. Her afflicted family buried what could be found of her in a sardine box.

FLOYD.

Floyd Superior Court began its session Monday morning, Hon. J. W. H. Underwood, presiding.——Julia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gwaltney, died on Monday evening.—Commercial.

Mrs. Freeman, of Cave Spring, found a negro man in one of the rooms of her house Monday morning. He attempted to escape, but the brave lady caught him by the arm and cried for help. The negro then jumped out of the window, dragging the lady after him. She, however, clung to him until help arrived and the rascal was taken into custody.—Courier.

AMERICUS.

The brightest jewel in the crown that encircles Americus is its modesty. A dealer in underwear in that place of delicate sensibilities advertises them as "male and female envelopes."

BAINBRIDGE.

On last Tuesday night Messrs. S. M. Patterson & Co., were burglarized to the tune of three hundred pounds of ham and bacon and one hundred and fifty pounds of flour. The rogues are as yet unknown.——There is a man residing near Bainbridge who has on hand a portion of his corn crop of 1871, and the entire crop of 1872. That man's smoke-house is full, and his pocketbook is fat.—Sun.

LUMPKIN.

The crops are suffering very much for want of rain, and complaints of dry weather are numerous. Corn is "firing" very rapidly, and will be seriously injured unless rain falls in a few days.——The Lumpkin negroes arrange each other's heads with combs.——A little daughter of Dick Everett, colored, who lives just north of Lumpkin, was bitten on the leg Wednesday night by a snake, thought to be an adder. She is under medical treatment with a good prospect of recovery.—Independent.

SAVANNAH.

Justice J. J. Abrams, while sculling his little boat in Skidaway River last Sunday had the misfortune to be upset in the middle of the river, and came near being drowned. He was saved by some gentlemen who witnessed the accident.

The 21st of July being the anniversary of the battle of Manassas, was celebrated in Savannah by a grand parade of all the military organizations. There was a prize drill between the Blues and the Cadets, and a sabre contest by the Hussars. The Cadets won on the drilling contest. In the latter, the first prize was won by General Anderson, the second by private Ryals, and the third by Lieutenant Miller. The day was spent generally in dancing and merriment.—Advertiser and Republican.

THE MODOC TRIALS.

Captain Jack and Others Arraigned for the Murder of the Commissioners.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The Military Commission appointed to try Captain Jack and others concerned in the murder of General Canby and Dr. Thomas, the Peace Commissioners, have concluded their labors. They met at Fort Klamath on the 5th inst., and closed the proceedings on the 9th. The verdict is believed to be that the accused Indians are guilty of the charges, although nothing is known yet of the decision of the Commission. The main facts connected with the massacre are so well known that no detailed account of the evidence is necessary. The Modocs arraigned were Captain Jack, Schonchin, John, Boston Charley, Black Jim, Sholocks and Bonchew.

Whatever findings may have been had in their case will be sent immediately to Gen. Schofield and to Washington, and will not be given to the public until action has been taken upon them by these authorities. The witnesses for the prosecution were T. F. Riddle, the interpreter, and Mrs. Riddle, his Indian wife, Peace Commissioners Dyar and Meacham, and the Modocs Shack Nasty Jim, Steamboat Frank, Bogus Charley, Charley, Hooka Jim, and William. The evidence showed that, from warnings given by Hooka Jim to Riddle previous to the meeting, there was every reason to believe that the Peace Commissioners would be attacked. Riddle and Mrs. Riddle so informed the Commissioners, who, however, determined to proceed to the place.

The Indians who were found at the council tent were eight in number: Captain Jack, Schonchin, John Black Jim, Ellen's Man, Boston Charlie, Bogus Charlie, Shack Nasty Jim and Hooker Jim. Three other Indians, bearing guns, came out of the rocks shortly after the firing commenced. The evidence established that after the delivery of the speeches by captain Jack, General Canby, Dr. Thomas and Mr. Meacham, and while Schonchin was speaking, Captain Jack cried, "Hetceet!" ('all ready!') and fired at Canby. Ellen's Man also fired at Canby. Schonchin shot at Meacham; Hooker Jim chased and shot at Dyar; Boston Charley shot Mr. Thomas. The parts played by the other accused Indians were not so prominent. Sholocks knocked Mrs. Riddle down and attempted to take her horse, while Shack Nasty Jim, Bouchew, and Ellen's Man, all three of whom came out of the rocks, chased Riddle. When Mrs. Riddle was struck Captain Jack ordered Sholocks to let her alone. The evidence of Shack Nasty Jim and the other Modoc witnesses for the prosecution who were present at the Massacre corroborated what had been sworn to by Riddle and his wife, Dyar and Meacham. They further testified that they had heard Captain Jack and Schonchin talking over the matter some ten days before the massacre, and also on the day previous to and on the morning of the event. They all admitted that they knew of the purpose to kill the Commissioners. At the end of each witness' testimony the evidence was read to the prisoners, who were asked if they wished to ask any question, but they invariably declined to say anything.

The accused Indians had no counsel, and seemed to rely entirely for justice upon the Commission. Evidence for the defense commenced on the third day, when, at Captain Jack's request, Dave, Mose, and Scarfaced Charley were brought in, ironed, to testify. Nothing of any immediate advantage to the prisoners was developed by their testimony, which was merely a narrative of the sayings and doings of the Klamath Indians in connection with the Modocs since the beginning of the trouble. The sum of their testimony was that the Modocs were incited to resistance by the Klamaths. Dave and Mose, among other things, swore that La Lakes, a Klamath, told them that the soldiers wanted to get Jack out for the purpose of making peace, and that they would then burn him.

Captain Jack made a long speech in his own defense. He said that before the trouble he was living near Yreka and was a "good Indian," so known to all the whites, lived like the whites, subsisted upon what he could kill and catch, and never begged. He denied any responsibility for the war, and declared that he always wanted to live at peace. He was finally driven to the lava bed by the attacks made by the soldiers on his people. While in the lava bed he still desired peace and, because he advocated it, the other Indians would call him "squaw." He also said that he knew the whites would hold him responsible for what was done, as he was the chief.

The above contains the substance of all the testimony, both for the prosecution and for the defense, which was forthcoming during the trial.

Alabama News.

The Clayton County Fruit and Floral Fair opened on Tuesday. Special trains run from Eufaula. Among other features was a grand tournament, which came off to-day (Wednesday.)

Two car-loads of iron have been received at Montgomery for the street railroad, and the work will be pushed forward immediately.

The cholera has almost entirely disappeared from Birmingham.

The worms are spreading all over the cotton belt of Alabama, and are now webbing up preparatory to their grand and destructive charge in the next three or four weeks. With rains at the best part of the season, and worms when the cotton begins to develop, the prospect for much of a crop in Alabama is slim.

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

PETITION OF SPANISH "LOYALISTS."

HAVANA, July 23.—The Spanish Conservatives of Havana sent to Madrid by the last mail steamer a petition to be presented to the Cortes, in which they pray that so long as a single armed rebel remains who cries death to the Spaniards, and until a sufficient time has elapsed for the complete establishment of tranquillity in the island of Cuba, no reforms be introduced, such as are likely to produce disturbances which would only be favorable to the rebels.

The petition is signed mostly by wealthy Spaniards and slaveholders and their dependants. The Republicans' Committee sailed to day for Spain to lay their cause before the Cortes. They ask for more reforms—especially liberty of the press, the abolition or modification of the censorship, and the practical enjoyment of a Republican form of government here as well as in Spain.

We, therefore, desire you to call at our store and draw a sample from a small lot which we have here. After you have made an analysis, let us know the result.

Respectfully, GUTHMAN & HAAS.

ATLANTA, GA., July 1, 1873.

Messrs. Guthman & Haas, Atlanta, Ga.:

GENTLEMEN—This will certify that I have made a thorough chemical examination of the "Crescent Brewery" Lager Beer received of you a few days ago. I find the article free from injurious substances, drugs, etc.; the bitter principle being due to pure hop resin. The analysis herewith affixed exhibits the quantities of the main proximate constituents, and compares favorably with the analyses of the best foreign beers and ales.

I am very truly yours,

WM. J. LAND, Analytical Chemist.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS!

THE NASHVILLE REPUBLICAN BANNER,

THE OLDEST ESTABLISHED NEWSPAPER IN TENNESSEE.

IF YOU WISH TO SUBSCRIBE TO A FIRST-class daily, tri-weekly or weekly family newspaper, take the NASHVILLE REPUBLICAN BANNER, issued from the Capital and commercial center of Tennessee—the oldest established paper in Tennessee, enjoying the largest circulation, and conceded to be the best newspaper, in all respects, published South of the Ohio. It has acquired distinction with the public and among its contemporaries, for its enterprise in securing the freshest news and the concise and convenient manner of presenting it; for its accuracy as a market reporter; for the progressive spirit and conservative tone of its political teachings; for being a live, independent and sincere political journal, thoroughly identified with the political and material interest of its State and section. It gives 10,000 words of telegraph, from all parts of the world daily—the best market report, the freshest local news—and its originality is its distinctive specialty.

The BANNER will strive to keep pace with the progress of the times and to be an accurate and life-like exponent of all occurring around us. It will note all affairs of National, State or local interest, and all the interesting events occurring in the country at large and abroad It will contain full reports of the next Tennessee General Assembly and proceedings of the next Congress, which everybody will wish to see. As a vehicle for the transmission of news and intelligence on every subject, it will commend itself to readers of all shades of political faith. Its editorial corps is large and composed of writers who have made journalism a profession, their particular department a specialty, and who bring to their labors the earnestness which results from its being their life-long calling. Neither labor nor expense will be spared to obtain the latest intelligence, whether local, domestic or foreign, and a liberal use of the telegraph will make each issue a compact and comprehensive history of the "world's doings." As a newspaper it will be surpassed by none in life and enterprise. In tone and sympathies and aims, it will be as conservative as from the beginning of its career. We shall go on as we have begun, and we hope the public, as far as the mails that communicate with us are concerned, will go on as it has begun. The Banner for the coming twelve months will be an improvement on the last. We design it for the best newspaper within reach of its circle of patrons and leave the issue to their kind opinion.

THE TRI-WEEKLY BANNER

will contain the cream of the news of the Daily with its telegraphic dispatches and market reports.

THE WEEKLY BANNER,

a complete compendium of the news of the Daily and Tri-Weekly issues, will be a first-class family Literary journal—an instructive and entertaining weekly visitor to the Family Circle.

TATE SPRINGS, East Tennessee.

TATE SPRINGS are situated in the beautiful and fertile Bean's Station Valley, one and a half miles from Clinch Mountain, and ten miles from Morristown, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, from which point a daily mail is received. They are surrounded by magnificent mountain scenery, in one of the highest and driest sections in East Tennessee, in the immediate vicinity of Chalybeate, Alum, Red, White and Black Sulphur Waters, and, all things considered, we are bound to acknowledge in this, as in all nature, the superior wisdom of the Creator in locating this inestimable blessing to mankind.

MEANS OF ACCESS.

Arrangements have been made with the principal railroad South for round trip tickets, which may be obtained at all the large cities and towns.

DAILY LINE OF HACKS.

Contracts are made with competent and responsible parties to run a daily line of hacks from Morristown to the Springs. The hacks will be new, and of the most comfortable and modern styles, gotten up expressly for this line. They are to meet all passenger trains at the depot, and look after the comfort and accommodation of all persons passing over their line. The hacks make their trips in day time.

Ladies and families traveling alone will be especially looked after and cared for, and their baggage also.

Hacks leave the Turley House immediately after the arrival of trains. By this means any Express or other packages can be conveyed to or from Morristown to the Springs.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

The accommodations are still being extended, so that we hope to be prepared to entertain all of our guests comfortably. Among the new improvements are—

A spacious Ball Room.

A series of Bath Rooms.

The Grounds are much improved.

The rooms are principally cottage, with porches, fire places, and wardrobes or closets.

Good Bowling Alleys for gratuitous use of guests. In addition to which we expect to have a Band of Music.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are indispensable. Rejected communications we cannot undertake either to return or preserve.

ATLANTA:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1873.

The Christian Index.

This popular religious journal comes to us this week still more improved. Its contents are very interesting. Every Baptist in the State should have it. Address Jas. P. Harrison & Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

Georgia Crop News.

In Heard county, the News tells us the weather continues dry and the crops are badly suffering for rain.

Our own correspondent in Marietta writes us that the crops look well in Cherokee and Cobb, especially corn and cotton. Numerous local rains during the last three weeks will insure a fine yield of corn, and in some places it is better than an average. Cotton is generally very good and free of grass and weeds.

Audacious Scamps.

The telegraph tells us of a robbery on the Pacific Railroad, near Des Moines, Iowa, that for cool, bold, well-planned villainy equals anything of the kind of which we have read in many, a long day. The remorseless rascals deliberately provided for the wholesale annihilation of an entire train of passengers to accomplish the robbery. Through the brave, prompt, watchfulness of the engineer, the passengers were saved, but he sacrificed his heroic life, and was the only victim.

The robbery was successful, however, and the details read like a romance of evil.

It is a curious feature of the matter that it is a fine illustration of that Ku-Klux strategy that was wont to have a spurious political significance in the South, but which really was invariably the convenient disguise of crime.

Fulton Superior Court.

A glance over the dockets of our Superior Court show that an immense amount of business still remains unfinished, notwithstanding the length of the last session. Aware of the well-known fact that no judge of this circuit ever despatched business with such rapidity as Judge Hopkins, or exhibited greater patience and perseverance in the effort to clear the dockets. We were quite surprised to discover that nearly one thousand cases go over from the last term, about as follows:

Appeal 21; equity 94; claim 53; illegality 13; common law 717; certiorari 28. This number, too, is exclusive of motions, (in many of which issues are joined) and the criminal docket. When we consider, in addition, the amount of new business at the next term, it becomes a question of serious moment how all these cases are to be disposed of, and furnishes our attorneys with a subject for earnest reflection. We cannot see how even Judge Hopkins, with all his energy and ability, can dispatch the business. What shall be done?

Cuba Libre.

General Quesada, the brother-in-law of President Cespedes, has arrived in New York, and will hereafter take charge of Cuban matters in this country, relieving Senor Agrulera who has heretofore been the representative in this country of the struggling government. General Quesada has an associate in his bosom friend, Senor Castilio. It will be remembered, that General Quesada organized the successful Virginius expedition, which landed in Cuba, on the 7th inst., a very large amount of arms and amunition for the insurgents. He brings the intelligence that considerable pecuniary aid has been granted to Cuba by the Colombian government, and that the active and hearty sympathy of several other States in South and Central America is with the Cubans. Nothing can shake, he says, the loyalty of the people, both rich and poor, to the Cuban Republic, and its prospects never were brighter. It is now very easy to get in arms, and he believes that the distractions of Spain and the military strength of the insurgents will soon solve the question.

The Brooklyn Trust Company and the Bullock Bonds.

It matters little to the people of the country at large whether the President of the Brooklyn Trust Company committed suicide or not, or whether he overdrew his personal account one or two hundred thousand dollars. But it does concern the country to ascertain the reasons for such rapidly recurring betrayals of trust. We can get along better without them.

No man stood higher than Ethelbert S. Mills. He was believed to be wealthy; he was personally popular; in the art and social circles of Brooklyn he was especially prominent; and yet he has been slowly stealing the funds of a Trust Company that he was set to guard, for several years.

The company was organized about six years ago, and Mr. Mills was chosen the first President, which office he held up to the day of his death on the beach of Coney Island. It was not a bank of discount; but it was authorized to act as receiver, executor, trustee or guardian; to transact business for widows and minor children; to collect dividends, and to negotiate government securities. It business was of the gravest character. Its President was of the highest respectability.

There is nothing remarkable about the case; it is only a repetition of what we have latterly become accustomed to. How many other financial magnates of New York have appropriated to their own use money placed in their hands as a trust, no one knows or will know. It is only when their speculations come to grief, as in the case of Mr. Mills, that we know anything about their defalcations. Several such cases have occurred in the last few years, but not one of them is at work in the stone quarries of Sing Sing. No monied defaulter is punished, and so the demoralizing work goes on at the financial center.

Mr. Mills, it seems, speculated in real estate. He built rows of costly brown-stone front houses, which would not rent, or sell except at ruinous sacrifices. He was "carrying" large quantities of speculative city property, or rather the depositors and stockholders of the Trust Company were carrying them; for his account is, and for a long time has been, immensely overdrawn. In other words, he stole the funds entrusted to his keeping to carry on his real estate speculations, which resulted disastrously. If they had resulted fortunately, neither the public, nor the people pecuniarily concerned, would have known of the rottenness that these days of wild speculation had engendered.

The business of the company seems to have been conducted very loosely. $200,000 were loaned on the bonds of a bankrupt New England railroad company. There was a loan of $150,000 on $300,000 of Bullock bonds. The latter constitute an excellent straw security, and of course they would turn up on such an occasion. A new interest has sprung up in these bogus bonds since the defalcation, and in newspaper discussions about Georgia's liability, Henry Clews comes to the surface in no enviable manner. We trust that the victims of the latest defalcation of the period have something more substantial to fall back upon than the fraudulent issues of Bullock, Clews & Co.

Two Railroad Kings.

Correspondent Richmond Enquirer.]

Some year or two since, when the Hon. W. A. Smith was President of the North Carolina Railroad, he wrote to the Hon. R. R. Bridges, President of the Wilmington and Weldon Road, for a pass over his line. This letter wasn't even noticed. The Hon. W. A. Smith is now the President of the Western North Carolina Road, that runs from Salisbury to the mountians at old Fort. Last night the Hon. R. R. Bridges arrived at Salisbury in his splendid palace Pullman car, he and his family, and he was traveling like a railroad king up to the very mountains where Smith runs his road. Of course he supposed that all he had to do was to write a note telling Smith he and his palace car were here, and they'd be hitched on immediately, and the conductors and train hands would dance and bow attendance with doffed caps. So he wrote the note. Billy Smith replied, and refused to grant him this courtesy for two reasons: The first, because Bridges had acted so towards him; and the second, "because," wrote Smith, "the people living along the line of our road are a plain people, and they work hard; I make them pay when they ride, and were I to pass you free, in all this style and magnificence, these people would never get over cursing me so long as I lived." This was the substance of Smith's reply. He then sent for his conductor and told him if that palace car went over the Western North Carolina road Road, Colonel Bridges was to pay $25, and besides, actual fare for himself and every individual member of his family; and if the cash was not ponied up, to "switch off," the gorgeous Pullman at the very first turn-out.

THE SHAH.

A Brief Description of his Mother.

The mother of the Shah of Persia is thus described by a recent writer, who, being a lady herself, may be presumed to have a quick eye to discern the peculiarities of a Persian toillette. She says: "The Shah's mother was dressed with great magnificence. She wore a pair of trousers of gold brocade. These Persian trousers are always very wide, each leg being wider than the skirt of a gown, so that they have the effect of an exceedingly ample petticoat, and, as crinolines are unknown, elegantes wear ten and eleven pairs of trousers, one over the other. (They call a European lady's dress "trousers with one leg.") The trousers of the Shah's mother were edged with a border of pearls embroidered on braid.

She had a thin blue cape chemisette, also trimmed with pearls, nearly meeting the top of the trousers, which are fastened with a string. A small jacket of velvet was over the chemisette, reaching to the waist, and on the head a small shawl studded with pearls and diamonds, and pinned under the chin. Her arms were covered with handsome bracelets, and her neck with costly necklaces. Her hair was in bands, and hung down to the multitudes of small plaits. She wore no shoes, her feet being covered with fine cashmere stockings. The palms of her hands and the tips of her fingers were stained with henna, her cheeks were well rouged, and her eyelids and eyebrows were covered with antimony.

The American Dead in Mexico to be Cared For.

Congress authorized at its last session that the President should provide out of the ordinary annual appropriations for the maintenance of United States military cemeteries, for the proper care and preservation and maintenance of the cemetery or burial ground near the city of Mexico, in which are interred the remains of officers and soldiers of the United States, and of citizens of the United States, who fell in battle or died in and around the city of Mexico. The graves of the soldiers are not distinctly marked, but the graves and tombs of some of the officers and citizens buried there are neatly enclosed with the usual evidences of respect. For a quarter of a century the cemetery has been in charge of the United States Consul, but has now been transferred to the War Department, and will be subject hereafter to the rules and regulations affecting the United States national military cemeteries. Colonel Mack, Inspector of Cemeteries, has just received a number of photographic views of the cemetery, and will visit the place next fall with a view of making such improvements as may be regarded as necessary.

LONG BRANCH GLORIES.

The President's Surroundings at the Summer Capital.

Sunlight and Moonlight in the Dazzling Halls and on the Changing Beach.

The Gifted Men and Glorious Women Who Live by the Seaside in July and August—Lotos Eating in Earnest.

From the New York Sun.]

It is the height of the season at the summer capital of the Republic. Every arrival of the trains on Saturday brought hundreds of pleasure seekers, and gay as the week had been it was dull and lame in comparison with the holiday garb which the Branch wore on Saturday. There are not so many bathers just now as there were a fortnight ago. The weather is cooler, and then between the attractions of the races and the Ocean Grove camp meeting, the beach, the avenues and drives are comparatively deserted during the middle hours of the day. When the representative of the Sun arrived at Leland's Ocean Hotel on Saturday morning, he found the long piazza's crowded with eager groups waiting for the coaches which were to carry them to the race course. All along the splendid turnpike to Monmouth Park was seen every imaginable kind of vehicle. It was a glorious day, light, fleecy clouds flying over a sapphire sky, and the landscape looking as fresh as though just out of a bath of the summer showers which fell on Friday. The cool breezes sweeping through the grand stand were strong enough to make a wrap or light summer shawl a very welcome addition to the pretty toilets displayed.

LIFE ON THE TURF.

It was a gay and animated scene that met the reporter's gaze when he entered that radiant cordon of beauty and chivalry, and scanned the field with his opera glass. The wavy outline of hills filling up the background, the long, level stretches of the track, the hurdles and brushwood and pools scattered over the field, which the winged coursers were to leap in the steeple-chase; the horses prancing up to the starting flag and prancing back again, awaiting the moment when the tap of the drum should send them flying away with an arrow rush; the jockeys in their bright liveries, the trainers and heavy betting men grouped around the judges' stand, the stately decorum of the gentlemen who were seated or standing under the canopied roof of the light and lofty structure—all these gave the members of the Monmouth Jockey Club a look of conscious pride as they walked around in their faultless field costume, with their badges fluttering from their buttonholes.

When the reporter got back to the hotel there was another crowd of New Yorkers streaming in. They came for a night of amusement, a dip in the surf, and a Sunday at the seaside. They swarmed like bees or butterflies or winged ants

ALONG THE BEACH,

or in the summer houses, or under the swinging baskets of exotics that sway in the breeze that sweeps through the long piazzas of the Ocean House. Dinner from four to six attracted great numbers to the dining room. Most of the ladies make their toilets and come in late to dine. They linger, too, at those little round tables. Perhaps it is the dainty entrees that detain them so long, perhaps the murmur of their own sweet voices mingling with the sound of the tinkling waters of the flower wreathed fountains, perhaps it is the popping of the champagne corks. But dinner like everything else, comes to an end after awhile, and after dinner comes the stroll on the beach at twilight, and then the hop. This was varied on Saturday night by an entertainment given by Madame Le Vert, who for the last week has been the lady lion of the Ocean Hotel. Her reading drew a number of the notable cottage people and not a few of the inmates of the house into the great parlor. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and their daughters, Mr. L. J. Phillips and family, Mr. Drexel, the millionaire banker of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoey, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Gawtrey, Mr. Paddock, Maggie Mitchell's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Abecasis, Mrs. Croly, Jenny June, Mme. and Mr. Demorest, and Miss Vienna, Robert J. Doe, the lecturer, with his pretty daughter, Miss Flora, and a number of others. That veteran in society, journalism and war, Col. T. B. Thorpe, was and announced the accomplishments and pedigrees of the performers as he introduced them. Mme. Le Vert bore the ordeal of the introduction with as much aplomb and smiling dignity as she doubtless displayed when in palmier days she was presented to the courts of Great Britain and Continental Europe, but pretty little Clara Fisher, who is a charming singer, seemed overpowered when the Colonel said that she was not only a niece of the late celebrated actress of that name, but was besides the descendant of the great Thomas Jefferson, and related to the inimitable Joe.

After the reading, which was judiciously brief, and sandwiched by the music of an excellent band, the dancers tripped it till midnight. The reporter wandered off to the beach with Colonel Thorpe and Robert Doe, and watched the great white waves rolling up the shore and the lovers cooing like turtle doves in the summer houses on the bluff.

"Isn't this a beautiful sight?" said Mr. Doe.

"Which do you mean," inquired Colonel Thorpe, "the ocean view or the scenes in the summer houses?"

"Both," said Robert Doe.

"Humph?" said Colonel Thorpe, "I think those people in the summer houses look like lunatics."

After this cynicism Mr. Doe was more reticent and less enthusiastic.

The next day, with a brilliant party, the reporter drove down Ocean avenue past

THE TWO COTTAGES OF THE PRESIDENT,

and then up the cedar avenue and through the beautiful grounds of John Hoey. They stopped at the cottages of Edwin Adams, Maggie Mitchell (Mrs. Paddock,) Chanfrau, and Mrs. James Wallack, the widow of the distinguished brother of Lester Wallack. The ladies and gentlemen of the buskin have greatly the advantage of the millionaires and politicians in the way of tasteful summer retreats. Their cottages are all surrounded by trees and shrubbery. Mrs. James Wallack's domain is very extensive, and her cottage a regular English cottage ornee, embowered in honeysuckles and roses, and overshadowed by immense trees grouped by nature It is a study for an artist.

Chanfrau's home is the very home one would expect to find "Kit" in. He is the same hearty, genial gentleman off the stage as he is on it, a refined and modified "Kit," with a wife worthy of such a home nest as made for her.

Maggie Mitchell floated into her parlor to receive the party in a white polonaise that became her transparently fair face, set in its frame of golden tresses wonderfully well. She struck the reporter as being a sincere and simple mannered woman, not the least stagey in action or conversation.

Nearly every cottage that is to rent at the Branch this summer is taken, and the hotels pretty well filled. It is the summer capital in more than one sense. In the great hotels or in the parlors and libraries of the cottages and villas are planned and decided during the height of the season the political, financial, and great railroad schemes which are to engage Congress, Wall street, and the republic until the Long Branch season come again. The keenest brains and deepest schemes in the new world pillow their heads every night where the roar of the ocean lulls them to sleep. Jay Gould and Henry Clews, and Hatch the banker, and Secretary Belknap and Drexel are among the promenaders and bathers, and riders and drivers seen every day.

A BARON'S WIFE-MURDER.

An Old Man Shoots His Wife Because She Wants to Go on the Stage, and then Kills Himself.

Few murders have recently created a more profound sensation in the old world than the shooting of the young and beautiful Baroness Alvina von Gilmann, at Fryeberg, in the Grand Duchy of Baden, by her aged husband, the Baron von Gilmann, who had formerly been a Major in the German army, and who for many years had lived in retirement at an elegant chateau. Baron von Gilmann, at the time of the murder, was fully seventy years of age. He had never been married during his long life, until in the summer of 1871 he made, at the fashionable watering place of Wildbad, the acquaintance of a beautiful girl, Alvina Weil, the only daughter of a widow in very humble circumstances. The young girl made so deep an impression upon the heart of the old Baron that he offered his hand to her, which she accepted with some hesitation, but finally, giving way to the importunities of her mother, who was dazzled by the wealth and aristocratic positon of M. von Gilman, they were married in the fall of 1871, and lived apparently in serene hapiness at the husband's chateau. The young wife was greatly pleased at the lavish liberality with which the Barn treated her, and carefully avoided giving him any cause for jealousy. His acquaintances, who knew him as a proud, irrascible man, were surprised at the change which his temper seemed to have undergone since his marriage. For since then he was all gentleness, and he never gave way any more to bursts of passion, to which he had formerly been subject.

In the winter of 1872 Baron von Gilmann and his wife frequently visited the Fryeburg Theater, and an irresistible mania for the stage suddenly seized the young Baroness. She asked her husband if he had any objection to her becoming an actress, and, when he told her she could not, she flew into a violent passion, and declared with streaming eyes that she would commit suicide if not permitted to become an actress. Violent scenes henceforth repeatedly took place.

The Baron was inflexible, and his stage-struck wife finally promised not to annoy him any further. Secretly, however, she conceived the idea of gratifying her irresistible whim, even if it should lead to a separation from her husband. She wrote to Herr Bauernfeld, manager of the German theatre at Strasburg, a letter, in which she asked his advice as to her project of going on the stage. She sent him her photograph, and informed him also that she had expensive jewelry and fine dresses enough to appear in good style upon the stage. Baurenfeld wrote her a very sensible reply:

Madame, jewelry and fine dresses do not make an actress. In order to become one you must have talent and perseverance, without which even a lady of your fine appearance would inevitably fail. If you will come to Strasburg, and allow me to examine your qualifications for the stage, I may give you more encouragement; but understand that the "boards" are treacherous. Nine out of ten, who have tried it, have found them too slippery. ANDY BAUERNFELD.

This letter fell accidentally into the hands of the old Baron, and caused him to fly into a terrible rage. He hastened to his wife, and with trembling hands held the missive that was to prove fatal to both of them under her eyes. "Wretched woman," he cried, "what have written this man?" The Baroness was greatly frightened, and tried to pacify the old man by telling him that Bauernfeld's letter was in answer to one she had written to him months ago. The Baron now demanded the key of her writing desk, which he did not obtain until resorting to personal violence.

In the desk he found another letter, almost complied, by the Baroness, and addressed to the manager of the Stuttgart Theatre. His rage now knew no longer any bounds. Almost foaming at the mouth, he rushed to his bedroom and speedily appeared before his terrified wife with a loaded revolver in his hand. She fell upon her knees, and, in a heart-rending voice, implored him not to kill her. "Yes," he cried, "you have disgraced my honorable name—you shall die—and I will not survive the disgrace, either." He then fired three shots into his wife's breast, and then blew out his brains.

When the servants, hearing the report of the pistol, rushed into the room, they found their old master stretched on the floor, and stone dead. The young Baroness lay close to him, in a pool of blood. The feeble means which she uttered showed that she was not yet dead. Medical aid was promptly summoned, but it was at once ascertained by the doctor that recovery was out of the question. She lingered five days in the greatest agony, and then died. Her remains and those of her husband were buried on the 19th of May in one coffin at the cemetery at Fryeburg.

Cameron Wants Grant For a Third Term.

Boston Post Washington Dispatch.]

Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, has declared himself, in a conversation with a leading politician of that State, in favor of General Grant for a third term. Cameron's great anxiety seems to be to defeat Speaker Blaine for the Presidency. He is against Blaine because, as he asserts, he is a Free-trader, although born and reared in Pennsylvania. But this is not the strongest objection of the Pennsylvania Senator to Blaine. Cameron never forgets an injury. He says Blaine forfeited all claims to his support when he appointed Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means. Mr. Dawes, it will be remembered, was the gentleman who introduced the resolution of censure upon General Cameron as Secretary of War, calling upon President Lincoln to remove him. For the last ten years Cameron has been working to have that resolution expunged from the records of the House of Representatives, but in vain. He asserts that if he lives he will carry Pennsylvania against Blaine on this account.

QUADRUPLE TRACKS FOR THE N. Y. CENTRAL.—It is understood that the two additional tracks now constructing for the New-York Central and Hudson River Railroads will be completed in October. The new tracks are to be devoted especially to freight, and henceforth the present long detentions will be avoided. The running time will be reduced one half, and freight which now requires 24 hours between Buffalo and Albany, and 12 hours from Albany to New-York, will be carried through at twice the present rate of speed, and so accomplish the entire distance in 18 instead of 36 hours. An increased safety and regularity of passenger trains will also be secured. The New-York Central Road has leased the Harlem line, and that and the Hudson River Railroad will be connected near Hudson by a short cross road. This will open a direct line from Albany to Hartford. Ten years ago the New-York Central carried 5,000,000 passengers a year, at against 8,000,000 at present. Its freight as the same time was 2,158,000 tons per year, as against 4,500,000 at present.

PLAYING A LITTLE GAME.—Between the newspaper reporters and certain classes of sympathizing citizens, Kate Stoddard the murderess of Charles Goodrich, bids fair to become a first-class heroine, some of the latter even going so far as to propose subscriptions for her. The woman herself seems to be taking things easy. Monday morning she asked the jailor to furnish her with the morning papers, and when these were handed her she sat down and eagerly read all she could find about her case, criticising as she went along. A prominent official connected with the police expresses the opinion that the woman is playing a shrewder part than most people suspect, in other words, that she never murdered Goodrich at all, and only makes believe she did to shield another individual, not yet arrested, being well assured that she will not be hanged. This theory is obtaining many converts.

Bold Railroad Robbery.

Train Thrown from Track and Engineer Killed in Attempt to Prevent It.

Two Tousand Dollars and Three Tons of Bullion Captured.

A KU-KLUX AFFAIR.

DESMOINES, July 22.—An extraordinary and daring robbery was committed on a railroad train last night four miles west of Adair, on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad. At this point there is a sharp curve in the road, and here the robbers placed heavy timbers across the track to throw the eastward bound passenger train off. The engineer John Rafferty, saw the obstructions in time to reverse the engine and apply the air-brake; but the robbers observing the movement, fired at him from an ambush and shot him dead.

The engine struck logs and went off the track into a ditch, and was followed by one of the baggage cars—the others remaining on the track. Several passengers were bruised, but none seriously hurt. The robbers, who were masked, after opening and emptying the safe of the express messenger of its contents, rode off on horseback. Among the passengers were thirty Chinese students en route for Springfield, Massachusetts.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

CHICAGO, July 22, 1873.

A special dispatch from Desmoines gives the following account of the attack on the train of the Chicago, Rockisland and Pacific Railroad last night The train left Council Bluffs at 5 o'clock, with four coaches and two sleepers—the sleepers being filled with a company of aristocratic Chinese on their way to New England colleges. There were also two baggage cars, in which was the through California mail and express matter consisting of nearly $2,000 in express safe and three tons of bullion. When about sixty-five miles west of Desmoines about 8:30 P. M. at Sharp's curve, on the road in an isolated spot, with no houses for several miles in any direction, the train going about twenty-five miles an hour, the engineer, John Rafferty, suddenly saw one rail moved from its place about sixty feet ahead of the engine. He reversed the engine and applied the air-brake: While in the act bullets came in the engine like hail. The engine ran into the bank and turned over, throwing out the engineer, John Rafferty, and the fireman, the former falling on the latter dead. It is supposed that Rafferty was killed by concussion, as no bullet wounds were found on his body.

The fireman was unhurt.

The train being heavy ran about one hundred feet and stopped, The baggage cars doubled and were badly smashed. As soon as the train stopped several large athletic men masked in full Ku-Klux style appeared at the express car, in which were conductor Smith, Superintendent Boyce, express messenger John Burgess and three other persons, and commenced firing at them, yelling; "Get out of there, d—n you, get out of there."

Two bullets passed through the clothes of the conductor; one grazed the skull of the baggage-master; one on the side of the head of the express messenger. The inmates jumped out to the rear under cover of a half-dozen navy revolvers. Two of the robbers marched up and down the train, threatening to shoot any person who showed his head, saying: "Get down out of sight, damn you, or we will shoot you." The robbers then took about $2,000 from the express safe, add cut open the mail sacks, but took no letters, and then mounted horses and rode off across the prairie in a southern direction, the whole being done in less than ten minutes. They did not cut the telegraph wires and Superintendent Royce at once hastened to the next station and telegraphed in all directions. Engines and posses were sent out from Council Bluffs on the Burlington and other roads to intercept robbers. Their dress and voices indicate that they were regular bushwhackers. They evidently intended to get the usual valuable express matter by this route Monday, but which went through on an extra train Sunday night. The robbers during the day stole a spike bar and hammer from a hand car house at the station and drew the spikes from one end of the rails, secreted themselves several rods away, and, as the engine approached, pulled them out of place. The promptness of the engineer in reversing the engine, and the use of air-brakes saved the passengers from harm. Not one was injured.

A track was at once laid around the wreck and the train resumed the trip, arriving here at 7:30 this morning, bringing the dead body of the engineer, who resided here, and who leaves a wife and three children.

FOREIGN.

The Piratical Spaniards.

The Details of the Important Affair that Gave the Insurgents Some of the Finest Vessels in the Spanish Navy.

BAYONNE, July 22.—News received here through the Carlists, concerning the insurrection at Carthagena, throws additional light on the defection of the Spanish squadron in that port, which was made the subject of a government decree and vote in the Cortes yesterday.

The Insurgents after gaining control of the city seized the Castle Delas Galeras, a strong fort on the west side of the harbor, less than a thousand yards from the entrance which it commands completely. This gave them control of two lower battlements on the shore at the mouth of the harbor. They hoisted the red flag of the Commune over these forts and summoned the squadron lying in the harbor to surrender. The crews were in sympathy with the insurgents and the vessels fell into their hands without opposition. The chief command of the squadron is now entrusted to Pasas, who led the insurrection in the naval arsenal at Ferrol, in the Province of Corunna, some months ago. The vessels thus taken by the insurgents are the Victoria, iron clad of 24 guns; Numancia, iron clad of 25 guns; Petnan, iron clad of 40 guns; Almanza, screw frigate of 48 guns, and the steamers Fernando at Catalizo, Ferralana and Blasco Garay, not classified. The four vessels first named are among the finest in the Spanish navy.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

THE PESTILENCE.

IT RAGES FEARFULLY IN MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, MO, July 22.—Further advices from Louisiana, a town in Missouri, say that the cholera has abated there, but some fifty persons altogether have died with it since it first broke out, including some of the most prominent citizens in Traceyville and Troy.

The scourge raged fearfully, the towns being almost depopulated, either by the disease or by the people fleeing from their homes. Out of one family of nine persons in the former place, all of whom were well last Friday, only two remain to bury the dead. The disease also prevails in other neighboring towns business is almost sus ended, and most of those who are able are fleeing from infected places.

THE SCOURGE IN OHIO.

CINCINNATI, July 22.—Three deaths from cholera reported here to day, one at the Good Samaritan Hospital, making the fifth death at that institution within a week.

The health officers reported some dangerous cholera morbus cases caused from eating smoked fish, and the Board of Health has prohibited the sale of such fish.

THE SPANISH SPURT.

The Town of Alicante Goes Back to It's Republican Allegiance.

MADRID, July 22.—The declaration of independence at Alicante was brought about by the arrival in the harbor of the insurgent iron clad Victoria from Carthagena. She soon after sailed, when the city returned to its loyalty to the national government. The Governor of Alicante has been arrested and will be tried by court martial.

The minority have decided to withdraw again from the Cortes.

England Swelting.

LONDON, July 22.—The extraordinary heat continues without abatement.

☞ A young drug clerk went to see "her" the other night, and with a lover's familiarity entered the parlor without knocking. The room was dark, but he knew he was expected, and thought he heard the rustle of a dress in a gloomy corner. "Elfrida!" he exclaimed in passionate tones, "what, hiding? What art thou doing, pretty one?" "Suckin' a neg!" unmistakably came from Elfrida's brother, behind the sofa. And the drug clerk laid his weary head on the window-sill and wept until his Elfrida came in with a lamp.

AN AMERICAN GENTLEMAN DRIVING A COACH IN ENGLAND.—As all the world knows, there has been a revival of the coaching system in England. There are seven or eight of these coaches which leave White Horse Cellar, Piccadilly, one of the old traditional starting places, every morning. The blowing of the guards' horn is a pleasant feature of these "revivals," which take one through the most delightful country in England at dashing speed. Most of these coaches are owned by three or four persons; but the most stylish of all, the "Brighton," has for its only owner and driver an American, George Tiffany of Baltimore, who graduated at Harvard in 1866, and was a welcome addition to Boston society, where his genial disposition and excellent dancing were fully appreciated. The young Baltimorean "toots his cattle" over the road at the rate of fifty-two miles in five hours. There are seven changes of horses, of which there are twenty-eight in all, for this spanking team.—Cincinnati Gazette.

July 22, 1873. W. P. ORME, Secretary.

THE MOZART SOCIETY.—This famous musical circle held one of their regular meetings last night at their hall on Whitehall street. There was a very large attendance of the members, and also a number of friends. The Society individually and collectively well sustained its reputation for music, and the hours sped by most pleasantly. Some very beautiful pieces were rendered. We hope that the Mozarts will soon give a public exhibition.

MEMORIAL VOLUME.—Colonel James D. Waddell is preparing a memorial volume of the lamented Judge Linton Stephens. Friends who have preserved any of his letters are requested to send them per express to him at Marietta as early as possible. It will facilitate him in his labors very much to send them to him at once.

SOME ALLIGATORS.—Quite a crowd was collected around the express office yesterday afternoon to interview six juvenile alligators who had just arrived. They were brought up from the low country and consigned to Mr. C. H. Norman, of this place. One of them was between five and six feet long. The others were smaller. They looked about as ugly and villainous as anything we have recently seen, and will be placed on exhibition.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.—In another column will be found the card of H. H. Carlton & Co., real estate agency, Athens, Georgia. Their business will consist in buying, selling, renting or leasing real estate, paying taxes, examining titles, as well as a general sale and purchase business.

They are also prepared to furnish laborers, house servants, etc., of whatever nativity desired, on short notice.

Parties calling upon the above firm will find them prompt, reliable and energetic.

A NEW DIRECTION FOR THE HAY TRADE. On Monday last Mr. Samuel A. Echols received by the Air-Line Railroad, on commission, ten bales of new hay from Northeast Georgia, sent merely as a specimen to try the market with. It proved to be the finest hay seen in Atlanta for many a day. So far superior to anything usually found here that he sold it at once for a high price. We learn that there are hundreds of bales where this came from.

The value of the Northeast Georgia lands for growing hay is not known. They are equal to Kentucky.

RATHER ROUGH PLAY.—Yesterday afternoon Welborn Hunt, a United States prisoner at present confined in the jail, entered into some very violent play with his fellow-prisoners, and dislocated his shoulder joint.

The dislocated bone pressed upon the ribs below and caused the most intense suffering.

Doctor Pinckney was sent for and came at once to the jail.

With the help of three strong men the shoulder was re-set. When the bone passed back into its socket it snapped nearly as loud as a cap. Hunt felt instantly relieved of a great part of his pain, but we imagine that in future he will be more particular how he plays.

GRAND POMOLOGICAL AND HORTICULTURAL EXPOSITION IN AUGUST.—A grand Pomological and Horticultural Exposition will be held in the rooms of the State Agricultural Society in the Capitol, on the 20th of August next. The Exposition will begin at ten o'clock, A.M., and continue until ten o'clock, P.M.

The Committee of Arrangements are working energetically to make it the grandest affair ever held in the State. Our citizens should not only feel, but manifest, a deep interest in its success. We trust therefore they will second the efforts of the committee with all their ability.

PERSONAL.—The following were among the arrivals at the Kimball last night: A H Moore, C L Ross, New York; B Meyer, J R Hopkins, A Sloan, Savannah; H Woolf, Thomasville; A T Akerman, Cartersville; J P Fort, Macon; J M Selden, Augusta.

At the National among others we noted the following on the register last night:

J C Milam, Kingston; J E Meister, Dalton; G O Wynn, Newnan; W M Landers, Newnan; G M Anderson, Griffin; G D Harwell, Griffin; J M Oates, Chattanooga; W D Palmer, Macon; W C Hewitt, Catoosa Springs; A Lewis, Cairo, Ill.; J A Mason, Baltimore; J D Alexander, Griffin; Ira E Smith, Brunswick; J T Powell, Macon; B G Neal, Rome.

The debaters were selected by their respective Societies for their merit as debaters.

Salutatorian—Mr. J. O. A. Wunn, of the Phi Gamma Society. Subject—Should the Government adopt a system of Compulsory Education?

Affirmative—Messrs. J. W. Fredrick, F. H. Richardson, E. M. Whiting, Few.

Negative—Messrs. C. F. Dowman, W. N. Sheats, O. L. Smith, Phi Gamma.

President—General A. H. Colquitt.

Owing to the absence of Gen. Colquitt, Bishop Pierce presided. The debate was good and very creditable to the young men engaged in it. Bishop Pierce decided the question in favor of the negative.

THE JUNIOR EXHIBITION

took place to-day. At an early hour the audience commenced gathering until the Methodist Church, where the exercises were held, was well filled. The following young gentlemen spoke:

W M Crow, Henderson, Texas—National Attractiveness.

E M Hammond, Atlanta, Ga—Practical Thought.

W E Keener, Augusta, Georgia—Excused.

Music.

E. R. Kinnebrew, Lexington, Georgia—Achievements of Man.

R. H. Lewis, Sparta, Georgia—Ireland.

J. B. Park, Jr., Greensboro, Georgia—Value of Time and Knowledge.

S. L. Smith, (Excused) Oxford, Georgia—Agents and Agencies.

Talfourd Smith, Greensboro, Georgia—Indian Ethics.

D. F. C. Timmons, Oxford, Georgia—Religion and the Administration of Law.

All acquitted themselves well. Special mention might be made of the speeches of Young Hammond, of Atlanta, and Mr. Timmons, of Oxford.

DELIVERY OF PRIZES.

At the close of the speaking, Howard Van Epps delivered the prizes in a speech that was listened to attentively by all. His subject was emulation.

Atlanta may well be proud of her young orator, for to-day he illustrated what her sons were capable of doing; he lost none of that reputation as a forcible speaker that he had gained on other occasions.

Mr. W. A. Candler, of Villa Rica, gained the first prize, and Mr. J. A. Wright, of Oxford, the second.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock occurred the

RUMORED DUEL.—The absence of T. J. Phillips from the city, coupled with the fact that J. F. Shecut is reported to have gone off with him, has given rise to the rumor of a hostile meeting between Mr. Phillips and Col. J. F. Waddell, of Alabama. The Columbus Sun of yesterday says:

"Rumors regarding a duel were general all along the business streets yesterday."

"The probabilities on good authority last night were that the affair would be settled. Rumors are plentiful."

Mr. J. F. Shecut is registered among the arrivals at the Rankin House at Columbus on the 20th. Nothing definite is known in this city concerning the affair, so far as we are advised, except the absence of the parties named.

PENCILGRAMS.—Next week shooting at pigeons on the wing will be the fun. Those eminent "crack shots," Drs. Collins and Cooper, will be on hand with six-inch columbiads.

A negro child, about two years of age, at Dalton vomited up a few days since a snake eleven inches in length, with an inch or more bitten off. The snake lived only an hour. It was striped like a garter snake. It is supposed that the child drank the snake when it was small, but it is conjecture only.

A young bacheloric merchant sent his sweetheart a barrel of "Home, Sweet Home" flour, in the hopes that it would rise, and that he would be needed. His cake is all dough.

Rev. J. B. Mayson was in town yesterday disguised under a new churn.

If you would secure a comfortable residence in a healthy town, attend the sale of residence lots at Stone Mountain on the 30th.

Have no jars in your family unless it be Law's fruit jars.

CONSTITUTIONAL LACONICS.—The roseate watermelon is deluging the Gate City. Mountain piles come and disappear. No choleratic echoes yet awakened.

The Macon Telegraph devotes a solid half column to wailing over the cantankerous mosquito, which it dolefully dubs "an inestimable, intangible, aggravating nuisance." If Reese calls "them whoppers" that ravage Macon "intangible," the man must have an idea that nothing less than a steam elephant is a tangible thing.

The tintinnabulation of the marauding musquito is beginning to faintly persecute the sleepy darlings of Atlanta.

Marietta is fast filling up with elegant summer loiterers. The Kennesaw House looks lively once more and is vocal with the chatter of beauty and the squeal of the spring chicken.

The approaching completion of the Air-Line Railroad, which, it is believed, will be done by the middle of August, is awakening a wide-spread rejoicing. Let Atlanta have a grand splurge.

FOR THE CHAIN GANG.—A few days ago a policeman had in charge five females, three white and the remainder colored, destined for the chain gang. The marks of debauchery and degredation were set on each of their faces. One young white girl, despite her dirty gown and dirtier face, was quite good looking; but there was an absence of shame too sad to contemplate. On all the faces of these prisoners there was a look of resignation, that resignation which is begotten of despair, while apparently they were quite jolly. But no one could measure the depth of that despair, when surrounded by cold-hearted men and tantilizing boys and callous guards.

One can say what they might have been; or, what they might be, if only there was a home, or house of correction, where these poor fallen creatures could find a word of comfort, work suitable to their organizations, and a removal for a while from the contaminating society of those beyond recall. The condition of this portion of society calls loudly for some means wherewith to better it. Who will inaugurate a movement looking to the uplifting of some of our poor fallen women? Cannot some be found?

LETTER FROM NORTHWARD.

Breakfast and Supper Houses—Beautiful Scenery—The Kennesaw Route—Happy Little Homes—Our Correspondent's Mind Looketh that Way.

ON THE TRAIN, July 13, 1873.

Editors Constitution: I am not afflicted with that singular malady (a desire to write,) that a good many persons suffer with when away from home, and will therefore not trouble you with a long letter, which is the only panacea for that strangest of diseases.

Comfortably seated in the "Leavenworth," we quietly passed from under the Passenger Shed in Atlanta, at 6 P. M., on the 8th, bound for the "Great Metropolis." Imagine my disappointment when I had traversed the whole train and found not a single familiar face. I returned to my own car and yielded to my fate, consoling myself with the reflection that if I had nobody to talk to, I could amuse myself by thinking of the supper house, and when the conductor, in answer to my enquiry, informed me that there was no supper house, I thought that of all things I was the most miserable. I wonder if people don't eat on that road? Are they etherial, and can they subsist on their own fancies? As for me, I like something more substantial.

This is the only objection that any one can have to the "Kennesaw Route." Its appointments are excellent, and the time good, but really the passengers ought to be afforded an opportunity to eat. As I had nobody to talk to, nothing to read, and nothing to eat, I soon, in self-defense, "put my self in my little bed," and was in a short while in the lap of repose, perfectly oblivious to my many misfortunes. Early the next morning we were aroused with the pleasant salutation "Breakfast House." I did not see a single passenger turn over and rub his eyes, but they all, with one mind and one wish, arose and joined in the chorus, "Breakfast House."

About 11 A. M. we reached Bristol and changed cars for Lynchburg. The country along this route is certainly most especially after crossing into Virginia. The first thing that attracted notice and excited admiration, was the News River, a stream some two hundred yards wide, which floats along smoothly and gently, as if it were utterly indifferent to everybody and everything about it, and really I believe it is. About midway the stream, rowing a little batteau, was a woman; she sitting in one end and her dog in the other. She looked as indifferent as the stream, paying no attention to the passing train, but seemed satisfied "to paddle her own canoe." This river runs parallel with the railroad for several miles, and furnishes the traveler some very pretty scenery. I was much interested watching its wanderings, and though how much like the crooked ways of life its waters ran.

Soon, however, we parted company and the river glided silently away, hurrying on to mingle its waters in the great ocean, and we wended our way through the gorges of the Alleghanies, hastening to a destiny we knew not of. Looming up most prominent amid this magnificent range of mountains may be seen the celebrated

PEAKS OF OTTAR.

These, however, may be called a part of the Blue Ridge, some twenty-eight miles from the Alleghanies. To our left, as the train was dashing through the mountain passes, could be seen slowly receding behind one of the tallest peaks of the Alleghanies the setting sun.

Rifts of cloud had gathered about the place, as if to witness as sentinels the safe departure of the great luminary of the day, and as his last rays lingered on the mountain top, reflecting back upon these little clouds, giving them the pink and golden hue. I could but wish for the power of the painter, that I might transfer the picture to paper, and thus perpetuate one of the most vivid and beautiful of nature's panoramas. All around were scenes of rarest combinations of luxuriance and loveliness. Along this beautiful country are which are now waving with the ripening harvest. The country seems to have recovered entirely from the effects of the war. Crook and Hunter, you will remember, attempted this route and were making considerable headway when met by General Early and repulsed—completely routed—and that part of the beautiful valley of the Shenandoah resounded no more with the sound of the bugle-horn of an invading foe.

Beautiful farm houses are scattered all along the way, whose pleasant and inviting exterior indicate unmistakably the domestic felicity within. I could but think of our friend, Col. B. "The Farmers' Poet." If he had been present I am certain that poetry would have had added to its already long list of gems another that would have shone with equal lustre to any. W. P. T.

Proceedings of Council.

ATLANTA, GA., July 22, 1873.

Council met pursuant to call. Present Hon. C. C. Hammock, Mayor, and a full Board of Aldermen, except Aldermen Beatie and McLendon.

BROAD STREET BRIDGE.

The Special Committee on the bids for building the Broad Street Bridge made the following reports:

Your joint special committee to whom was referred the several plans, specifications and bids, for building an iron bridge across the railroad cut on Broad street, having carefully examined all the plans and bids submitted, respectfully recommend the acceptance of the proposition of Wilkins & Post's bridge, with iron trellis girder, at $14,000—one-half in bonds bearing 8 per cent, and half in cash, monthly estimates at 90 per cent, as the work progresses; the reservation to be in bonds only.

L. P. GRANT,
JOHN H. FLYNN,
M. CORPUT.

Mr. W. Rushton was called from the city before the division of the committee, but favored the Post plan of bridge.

We, of the Committee, recommend the acceptance of the Canton, Ohio, Bridge Company, Frank M. Hight, agent, as the plan proposed is equal to any, and the entire consideration, $14,000, is in bonds of the city, bearing 8 per cent, and only one-fifth to be paid before completion.

D. A. McDUFFIE, Chairman.
JOHN F. MORRIS,
W. B. BASS.

The bill of Wilkins & Post was for a 70 foot bridge, with two trusses, 1 carriage way 50 feet wide and 2 walk ways, 10 feet each for $14,000.

A subsequent letter was received from Wilkins & Post, stating that they would take the bonds at 85 cents.

Mr. Hight's bid was also modified, he agreeing in writing to put up a double intersection Pratt truss with Trellis floor beams for $14,000, taking 20 year 8 per cent. bonds of the city of Atlanta at 95 cents.

Ald. Dodd moved to accept the proposition of Mr. Hight, he giving good bond and security for the performance of the work. The vote was unanimous. Ald. Langston voted yea in favor of the award, but nay against the 70 foot bridge.

The city attorney was instructed, in connection with the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to prepare the necessary papers and bonds.

GEORGIA WESTERN RAILROAD.

By Alderman Dodd:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor appoint a committee of three to vote the stock of the city of Atlanta in the Georgia Western Railroad on the 24th.

Adopted. Committee—Dodd, Brotherton and Rice.

Council thereupon adjourned.

THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ADJOURNED. The Legislature, at its last session, appointed a joint committee of both branches of the Assembly to meet during the recess and patiently investigate the defalcation of Foster Blodgett. That committee has been in session in this city two weeks, and adjourned yesterday.

The previous Legislature, by appropriate committee had investigated this matter and found Blodgett's default to be considerably more than the amount of his official bond as Superintendent of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, and upon their finding, a judgment has been issued against his bondsmen for the full amount of the bond—$20,000.

These bondsmen and Foster Blodgett have resisted the payment of the execution in every way they could. The case has been before the Supreme Court, and recently the sham pardon granted by Judge Conley while he was filling the Gubernatorial chair and playing the part of Chief Executive, has been urged before the Superior Court as a bar to the enforcement of the judgment against the securities. In all these moves the courts have decided against Blodgett and his securities, holding them to the payment of the bond.

One special point made by the securities was that many of the items composing the account which the previous Legislative committee had found due were erroneous—alleging that they were able to show that to be the case, but were denied a hearing or the privilege of introducing testimony, etc., and it was particularly to meet this objection, that the committee which has just adjourned was raised and held their late meeting.

While holding this session, they opened the doors wide, summoning every witness desired, and fully examining every point or question raised by the defendants or their counsel, and remained in session till they said they were through and had no other witness or matter to introduce, and had presented their whole case.

The committee will not come to a conclusion—will not prepare a report—till the Legislature meets. Their adjournment yesterday was to assemble here again a few days before the meeting of the General Assembly, till which time their conclusions will not be known. All we can now say is, that they have given a patient and full hearing to the defense to their entire satisfaction. We have no doubt they will come to a correct conclusion—one that will be sustained by truth and equity. Of course no one can say how they will report.

THE COURTS.

Proceedings of the Commissioners' Court Yesterday—Important Trial for a Felony—Criminal Matters in the Justices' Courts.

The Commissioner's Court.

The trials before United States Commissioner W. B. Smith opened yesterday with the case against S. A. Pinion, of Dawson county, charged with working in an illicit distillery in that county. He was defended by Messrs. Hill & Conley, who cleared him of this charge.

A new warrant was then immediately taken out by the Government, placing the offense in Pickens county. Upon this warrant the prisoner declined an investigation, and gave a bond of $100.

The next case tried was against J. J. Callaway, of Marietta, for hauling five empty casks with stamps upon them, without obliterating or effacing the same. This charge is a felony under the United States law, and punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. The prisoner was caught hauling the casks from Powder Springs to Marietta, with the intention of filling them with whisky at the latter place, and returning. The case was stoutly contested by Mr. Tollison for the prisoner, and Thomas for the government. The Commissioner required the prisoner to give an appearance bond of $1,000, and remanded him to the custody of the Marshal.

The last case tried was against Marian Evans, of Dawson county, for retailing whisky unlawfully. The evidence was very weak, and the warrant was dismissed.

It is probable that one other case will be tried in this court to-day.

The Justice's Court.

Justices Butt and Sasseen, yesterday, tried a peace warrant case between Thomas Bailey as prosecutor, and Henry Clark, Jacob Clark, and Frances Wagner, as defendants. The parties are all negroes. The Justices required each of the defendants to give a bond to keep the peace in the sum of $100.

Immediately upon the conclusion of this case the prosecutor Bailey was in turn tried upon a warrant taken out by the above defendants for simple assault. He was also required to give a bond of $100 for his appearance before the City Court.

Justice E W. Munday had some little business also yesterday.

J. C. Bridges, colored, was tried before him yesterday upon a warrant charging him with assault and battery committed the 21st day of July upon one Humphrey Leslie. It appeared upon the trial that this very same case had been tried some time ago before Justice W. P. Hammond. The warrant was consequently dismissed at the prosecutor's costs.

Mr. Finley represented the State. Thrasher & McAfee contra.

Yesterday afternoon, Thomas Turner, a negro, was tried in this court for burglary in the night time. The warrant was taken out by Mr. M. Land, and alleges that on the night of the 19th of this month Thomas broke into and entered the store house of said Land, and feloniously stole goods and merchandise of the value of $20. The evidence for the State was very weak, and failed to connect the defendant with the burglary. The warrant was dismissed at the prosecutor's cost. Mr. Thrasher represented the defendant.

Station House Report.

A negro, by the name of John Sutton, was arrested yesterday afternoon by the police, upon suspicion of being concerned in the recent robbery of the blind man, Mr. William Land, and of having in his possession some of the stolen goods. He will be held for trial.

Besides this there were two city arrests for being drunk and disorderly.

THE First Baptist Church and congregation of this city have been much instructed and comforted on the two past Sabbaths with able and finished sermons from Rev. Dr. Shaver.

Rev. E. W. Warren, the pastor, though as is hoped rapidly improving, is still feeble, and his people have kindly given him a respite for two months, so as to enable him to command his own time, and indulge in such leisure as may be needed after many years of faithful service.

Dr. Shaver has generously consented to occupy his pulpit for a time, and has began the service with some of the most solemn, interesting, and comforting sermons it has been our fortune to hear for a number of years.

Always clear and profound, this distinguished divine never fails to carry his hearers with him into the depth of gospel consolation. Go and hear him.

FOR Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Indigestion Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms, FERRO-PHOSPHORATED ELIXIR OF CALISAYA made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic. As a stimulant tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it has no equal. If taken during the season it prevents fever and ague and other intermittent fevers. ddw

MIDSUMMER MALARIA.—At this season the sun liberates from the soil the water and the filth of cities immense quantities of unwholesome gasses which the strongest can scarcely inhale with impunity, and which develop the most distressing diseases in the weak and feeble. It is, therefore, of paramount importance to invigorate the body in hot weather. Vitalize and strengthen the stomach and the nervous system with at least two doses per day of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and you will be sure to escape the fits of indigestion, attacks of billious colic, sick headaches, diarrhoeas and dysenteries which are so common at this season. Be prudent. A little care and forecast exercised now may prevent your being prostrated by remittent or intermittent fever, or by chronic bowel or liver complaint throughout the fall. When vigor is oozing out of every pore under an almost vertical sun, this genial vegetable tonic supplies to the nervous system an aliment which enables it to withstand the drain.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

When the stomach fails to perform the functions, the liver, bowels, nerves, muscles, veins, arteries, etc., are all more or less affected. These delinquents require a medicine combining the properties of a stomachic, an alterative, a purgative, a tonic, and sedative to bring them back to their duty; and all these elements, in their purest and most effective forms, are united in

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period, not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHOEA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

Price, 50 cents a Box.

None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

ENOUGH.

BY MARIA W. JONES.

From a cleft in a rock a harebell grew,
And gathered of sunshine and rain and dew
Its measure of life, in its cup of bloom.
In ... [illegible]
A ... [illegible]
For "the old, old story" her heart beguiled.

The world is wide! but a bit of its earth
In the cleft of a rock gave Beauty birth
And nourishment, fitting its own sweet worth.

The world is wide! but the maiden well knew
No heart in it all was more fond and true
Than the one that her troth was plighted to.

Scribner's for August.

The Pope's Health—The Repentant Queen of Spain.

New York Times' Rome Letter.]

So far as concerns the Pope's health it is every day slightly mending. His general strength is not sufficiently recruited to enable him to take the active exercise which he likes so much, but he is able to take his walk, whether in his own apartment or in the garden of the Vatican. To favor the weak legs as much as possible he uses his crutch, which he prefers to depend upon rather than to lean upon the arm of an attendant.

In his visage or person there is hardly any sign that Pio Nono has suffered from illness. He preserves his goodly bulk, and at the age of 82 his face is without a wrinkle. Pius IX. is one of the cleanest men in Rome, and gives a good example of that kind of civilization to the rest of the population. The ex-Queen of Spain left Rome, a few days ago, and is now in Milan. Her ten days here were passed in visits to the Vatican, to churches and sanctuaries, kissing sacred images, and shedding tears of repentance for past sins, with promises to the saints and the Pope of amendment.

She has gone about dressed in mourning garments, and no outward act of piety has been neglected. But she has smiled through her tears at the sweet words of encouragement received from the Holy Father. The suffrages of the Vatican are divided between the Carlists and the Alfunsists, but the party of the latter is gaining, both with prelates and the Pope. The hopes of the hierarchy are founded in the dubious political condition of Spain and a restoration of the Bourbons.

Quite Enough Married.

An incident of crossing the plains in the early days was told by a clever lady at the breakfast table one morning at Frisco. A Dutchman and his wife traveled West and arrived at Salt Lake, where they halted for a few weeks. The Mormons got around the old Dutchman and coaxed him to join their ranks. After retiring one night in their canvas-covered wagon bed, the good Dutchman broke the matter to his better half, hinting to her that the Mormons told him he had better "stay, settle among dem, and take some more wives." "How many vives you tinks you vants?" asked Kathrina. The Dutchman thought "fife more vould make a half-dozen already;" whereupon the old wife got down her bod-dice, and slipping from it what the Dutchman called the "prestboard, vich vas made from Visconsin hickory vas very tough," and she laid the hickory fierce and fast on the old man, who shuffled out of the wagon and fell in a ditch. The old man got up, said his "stomach it vas very cold, but his back it vas very varm." His wife cried out "How many vives you tink you vants now, ould fool?" But the Dutchman felt, and expressed that one was enough.

Ralph Waldo Emerson, says a Boston letter, has come back a new man in appearance. His face is fuller and ruddier than it has appeared for many a day, and his wonderful bright, almost roguish smile lights it up more frequently than before. He is promising a new literary work.

Near the close of the day of a campmeeting in Oregon, a short time ago, the local preacher said; "I hope all the congregation will be here by 10 o'clock, for precisely at that hour we will pass to the creek, where I shall baptize four adults and six adulteresses."

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN

At one and the same time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. The important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill.

Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produce no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists. Principal office, 18 and 20 Platt St., New York.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties: it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

Nothing has ever been offered to the public as a cure for the above diseases that is its equal, which by their drain upon the bowels has so often proved fatal, and by having a bottle of the SOUTHERN REMEDY in your house and take or give it on first symptoms, you need not have fears of the much dreaded epidemic, Cholera. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

CONSTITUTION AND SUN.

From Yesterday's Evening Edition.

ATLANTA, JULY 23, 1873.

Alabama News.

A gentleman with two ladies and a little girl was thrown from a carriage near Mobile on Thursday. The ladies were injured seriously, and one of them probably fatally.

The "Trade Company" of Mobile have recently purchased in New Orleans a fine stern wheel steamer called the D. L. Tally. She will run between Mobile and Wetumpka. Four steamers now constitute the fleet on the Alabama River.

Mobile was excited a few days since over what threated to be a serious tragedy between a handsome woman, and a gentleman who was so drunk that he become crazy. By request their names are not published.

On the 19th instant, the citizens of Mobile held a meeting at the Board of Trade rooms to "devise measures for the relief" of the sick at Birmingham.

The freight train on the New Orleans, Mobile, and Texas Railroad, ran over a drunken man near Pascugoula station 4 o'clock Saturday morning. The man was instantly killed.

D. J. Powers, a young man, citizen of Mobile killed himself Friday night by taking carelessly an over-dose of Chloral.

There is to be a great reunion of the Alabama Confeds at Clayton on the 24th of July. There is to be a dinner and some speech making.

Anderson Williams, colored, had a difficulty with another negro at Georgeton on Saturday, and, as reported to the Times, was "literally cut to pieces."

The Birmingham News goes for the Reverend gentlemen who ran away from that place when the cholera broke out.

The caterpillars are spreading around the neighborhood of Selma in immense numbers. The planters are troubled greatly, and trying to devise some way by which they can be destroyed.

$100,000.

The Man Who Wins.

From the Louisville Commercial.]

We have learned from persons who are acquainted with him, the following particulars regarding Mr. Lewis Henry Keith, of Kingston, Mass., who is said to have drawn the $100,000 in the recent Public Library Lottery.

Mr. L. H. Keith is the only son of Mr. Henry Keith, who was formerly proprietor of the principal dry goods store in Kingston, and one of that town's most respected and esteemed inhabitants.

Some years ago the elder Mr. Keith sold his establishment and removed to Boston, in which city he was rapidly accumulating money until unfortunately burned out by the great fire, which calamity left him a comparatively poor man. Mr. L. H. Keith, who was born and educated at Kingston, entered his father's store some years ago, and has continued in that establishment since the removal of the latter to Boston. He is about twenty years of age, tall, dark, good looking, and is universally well spoken of.

About a year ago he embarked in married life, and will now be materially assisted in defraying the expenses of housekeeping by the trifle of money which he will receive from this city.

He has one sister, who is younger than himself and unmarried.

The Keith family are old settlers in the Bay State, and are very numerous at Kingston and Campello, in which latter place they constitute a very large part of the population.

Mr. Keith has several relatives resident in this city. Among others, Mr. Sanford Keith, the prominent boot and shoe merchant, who is a cousin of the prize taker's father.

A RAILROAD RING CONVULSED.

A Great Highway Stolen and Destroyed.

Special correspondence of the World.]

HUNTSVILLE, ALA., July 13.—Not more than a year ago Tom Scott (sometimes called the Southern Railway Security Company) leased the Memphis and Charleston road, 300 miles long, from Memphis to Chattanooga. It was stipulated in the lease that the road should be thoroughly repaired and supplied with new rails and rolling stock, and given at once a "first-class equipment." The road is in a wretched condition.

The eating houses are villainous, sleeping cars infested with vermin till they became insufferable and were taken off the road, the passenger cars are villainously filthy, and the road, people say, is purposely destroyed that it may never constitute a route competing with Scott's more costly lines through the Carolinas and Georgia to Vicksburg, Shreveport, New Orleans, Texas, and the Pacific. In other words, it is believed that Scott leased the road to destroy it, and the contract of lease defines no penalty for its violation.

It is also true that it was understood when the lease was made that Scott had contracted for the Memphis and Little Rock Road, which was to be extended at once to Shreveport, and thence across Texas to the Pacific Memphis thus became a point in the shortest line from New York City to Marshal Texas, the initial point of the Texas Southern Pacific. But Scott has utterly refused to have aught to do with the road in Arkansas, and is certainly destroying the road—valueless as managed—between Memphis and Chattanooga. In very truth it is generally believed that Tom Scott and Newcomb of the Memphis and Louisville, and McComb—the three owning nearly all the railroads in these States—have combined to destroy Memphis and crush the Memphis and Little Rock Road, and thus prevent the extension of the road from Memphis to Shreveport. The result of this state of facts and of this alleged fraudulent conduct on the part of Tom Scott is the preparation of a bill to be filed in the United States Court at Huntsville praying that the contract with Tom Scott's agents—Jaques and others—be enjoined from the further destructive use of the road; and the prayer is that the whole property be placed in the hands of a receiver till the validity of the contract or lease be determined. The stockholders of the road, who leased to Scott, meet here on the 20th inst., and there will be a terrible struggle to control the action of the body by Scott's friends and enemies. I am persuaded that by the time this meeting occurs Scott will own a majority of the stock, and that's an end of the road. The price of the stock, which is being quietly bought up by Scott's representatives, may advance from 18 to 50 cents within twenty-four hours after the publication of these facts.

☞ A miss of twelve, daughter of Mr. Rootes of Rolling Prairie, Indiana, is as "horse crazy" as any man of our acquaintance. She is so strangely affected that she imagines herself the very animal, and eats grass and stamps and kicks. Then she will get up in the night, harness her father's team and drive miles away until she is overtaken and brought back. What is more inconvenient, she uses the neighbors' teams in the same way. An attempt was made to send her to a lunatic asylum, but the committing justice couldn't see that Miss Rootes was any crazier than many "horsey" men who are allowed to go at large and refused to commit her.

☞ General Shivers, of Washington, who eloped a few days ago with a widow employed in the Treasury Department, left behind him a wife and two grown daughters. His age is 54, and that of his companion 35.

IMPORTANT EXTRADITION DECISION.

The Attorney General Advises Against Giving Up to Belgium Voght, the Murderer.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—A special to Attorney General Williams to-day, transmitted to acting Secretary of State J. C. B. Davis, has an official opinion in the case of Carl Voght, a Prussian citizen charged with murder, arson and robbery, committed in Brussels, and now a fugitive in the United States. The question submitted to the Attorney General was:

Can the German Government rightfully demand the surrender of the fugitive under the treaty of June 16th, 1852?

The Attorney General says the only point in controversy appears to be the following: Whether or not, according to the true intent and meaning of said treaty, the crimes committed by Voght in Belgium, were committed within the jurisdiction of Germany. The Attorney General, in a lengthy opinion reviews all the facts in the case and concludes as follows:

I have carefully read the elaborate opinion of Judge Blatchford, upholding the jurisdiction in this case transmitted in your letter, but with diffidence, and I regret that I am compelled to dissent from his views. They do not appear to me to be sound in principle or sustained by authority.

Able writers have contended that there was a reciprocal allegation upon the nations to surrender fugitives from justice, though now it seems to be generally agreed that this is a matter of country. But it is to be presumed where there are treaties upon the subject that fugitives are to be surrendered only in cases, and upon the terms specified in such treaties, conformedably to what is above stated, and make a negative answer to your question.

Mills Didn't Suicide.—The Company Will Pay Him Out.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The gossip regarding the Trust Company real estate agents is that Mills did not suicide. The theory is that Mills arranged with them the evening before his death for the completion of some buildings. He was cheerful as usual. Mills' income from real estate, which these agents managed, was $400,000 per annum.

Regarding the Georgia bonds held by the institution, Secretary Richardson said to-day that the various eminent New York firms held the Georgia bonds, and that the Broadway Bank holds $300,000 of them. He believes that the company will pay every dollar it owed to the depositors without calling on the stockholders. The assets were reasonably good, though some of the securities were slow. The assets of the company amount to $2,999,059, amount due depositors $2,300,000.

GIVING THE FARMERS A CHANCE.

The Congressional Transportation Committee Invites the Grangers to Lay Before it their Grievances.

NEW YORK, July 22.—The weather is clear and warm. It is stated that the Congressional Committee on Transportation has issued a circular to State Granges of Husbandry throughout the country asking them to appoint delegates to meet the Committee and furnish information of the subject which they are investigating and present the views of the farmers of different States in regard to the defects, abuses and grievances that exist under the present system of transportation.

THE SPANISH MUDDLE.

The Assembly Refuses to Censure the Government, for Declaring the Insurgent Crews to be Pirates.

MADRID, July 22.—The crews of the Spanish men-of-war Allamansea, Vutoria, Mendez, Nunez and Fernando, El Catolico, revolted. The Government proclaimed these vessels pirates, authorizing their capture on the high seas by any foreign power on the high seas and their treatment as pirates.

Decrees were issued dismissing Generals Cantreas and Prerod, and removing civil Governors Cordora, Murcia, and Ponlevedra Leon. Orenso General Paria, was appointed Captain General of Andulasia and Estra Madura. The province of Alicante has declared itself an independent Canton.

Biarretz, the person who attempted to assassinate Marshal Serrano has been arrested.

The French Assembly Rally to Him Against Fierce Attack of Jules Favre.

VERSAILLES, July 22.—Jules Favre attacked the home policy of the government. He exposed and denounced the alliance of the Monarchists and Bonapartists. Great disorder ensued, followed by a vote of confidence of 400 to 270. This large majority in favor of McMahon upon the eve of recess compared with the defeat of Thiers by 14 votes, is regarded significant.

Hon. Millard Fillmore.

From the Baltimorean, 12th inst.]

This gentleman has been so long withdrawn from the public gaze that we doubt not it will be a pleasure to many of our readers to hear once more from him. As the successor of the lamented Zachry Taylor, his administration of the high office of President received warm encomiums from some of the wisest statesmen of that day. Hon. Henry A. Wise pronounced it "Washington like." By others he was styled the "model President."

A correspondent of the New York Observer alludes to this eminent statesman and courtly gentleman as having been present and participating recently at the commencement services of a female college at Aurora, New York. This correspondent says:

"The presence of ex-President Fillmore during the week, and his remarks on the platform, added largely to the dignity and impressiveness of the occasion. He charged the young ladies to study their own language thoroughly, to learn to read well, to write well, and to spell correctly (applause came in here;) to learn French next to English, and then German, but before all other languages to learn their own.

"Mr. Fillmore is now seventy-three years old, in the enjoyment of fine health, a courtly, polished gentleman of that school of manners that is rather reduced in numbers, but the few who remain are the more to be honored. He resides in Buffalo, quite withdrawn from public life. He speaks with great ease and grace, and wins the ready admiration of those who come in contact with him."

The writer of this has once seen Mr. Fillmore. It was at the depot of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad, in the city of Richmond. He had reached the platform of the rear coach in the train, and was about to leave for Washington. In person, he was tall and well proportioned, with a strikingly handsome face, and rendered doubly prepossessing by a bland smile which played about his features. Among others who had called to see him depart, was an aged colored man. He was a slave and presented a rather ordinary appearance. He made an effort to reach the platform and extend his hand to the then President of the United States. A member of the Richmond constabulary, noted for his boisterous manner and loud voice, rebuked the humble darkey, and bade him begone. Mr. Fillmore, witnessing the effort and hearing the rebuke, extended his arm and invited the colored man to come forward. He grasped his hand warmly, and said, "My old friend, I am glad to see you." Tears ran down the humble slave's face, and while the crowd cheered, the train moved off and soon bore Mr. Fillmore out of sight.

DESPERATION.—An Iowa editor recently, to keep with the styles, ran away with another man's wife. He did not get off so easily, however, as he imagined he would. The man followed him, and overtook the truant pair. The editor got behind the woman, and prepared to sell his life as dearly as possible. He was uncertain as to whether the outraged husband would shoot him, or murder him with a carving knife. He stood there, like the boy on the burning deck, and awaited the result. The outraged husband came up within about two feet of the editor, and said: "Cuss your impudence. I want you to stop my paper." That was all. The editor recovered himself and said he would have the matter attended to at once. During all the trying scene the woman stuck to the editor like a sand burr to a girl's stocking. Some people get mad and stop their paper for almost nothing—it beats all.

I WILL give the good quality of my improved Gins first place—running light, picking seed clean, ginning fast, turning out good sample, gin green, damp or dirty cotton, without choking—over common gins.

I have another improved Gin for Upland, Long or Short Staple, with Attached Circle Flue, at $4 per saw. Common rib Gin, such as other gin-makers make, at $3 50 per saw, with Attached Circle Flue, purchasers paying freight.

ANDERSON, S. C., March 17, 1873.

Messrs. Watson & Bro., Agents for the Wynne Cotton Gin, Anderson Co., S. C.:

GENTLEMEN—The Wynne Gin you sold me last September is superior to any Gin it has been my good fortune to operate, though I have had twenty years experience in ginning cotton Gins. It will gin green and damp cotton with less trouble than any other Gin I have ever seen, and in the matter of separating the lint from the seed none other can excel. With the experience of ginning more than two hundred bales this season, I can and do recommend the Wynne Gin to every lover of a good machine. By purchasing the Wynne Gin from you, it enabled me to gin more than triple the amount of cotton I would otherwise have done. I have made in one season clear more than the cost of the Gin. I do unhesitatingly recommend all persons using old gins to set them aside and buy the best (the Wynne Gin.)

Respectfully,
W. G. WATSON.

SANDY RUN, BARNWELL CO., S. C.,
December 14, 1873.

Mr. Thomas Wynne:

DEAR SIR—The Gin I bought of you last November beats any Gin I ever saw. I have in the last twenty-five years used all the gins made, that I have heard of, from Boatwright's first patent to the present date, and I consider yours the best Gin in the United States, and if you wish, I can send to you fifty certificates of good planters that have seen it at work; in short your Gin excels all others invented for any and every sort of cotton, large or small seed, wet or dry, and there is no other improvement needed.

Yours, very respectfully,
ULYSSES SULLIVAN.

CARNSVILLE, FRANKLIN COUNTY, GA.,
January 14, 1873.

Mr. Thomas Wynne, Esq:

DEAR SIR—The Gin you shipped me I put to work by water power that would only balance with one and a half (1½) horse power, and I can gin two bags per day, and I can assure you that I never saw a gin that would excel it in cleaning the lint off the seed, and is the same by the lint, not to be excelled, and I think with my (40) forty saw gin, with a (4) four horse power, I could gin (4) your bales per day.

Yours truly,
JAMES S. LATTNER.

PICKENS COUNTY, S. C.,

Mr. Thomas Wynne, Esq:

DEAR SIR—The Cotton Gin which I purchased of you last fall gives perfect satisfaction in every respect. It cleans the seed the best of any gin that I ever saw, and separates the moats from the seed the best and cleanest, and runs very light. I can gin five bales on it in a day. All persons that look at it say that they never saw anything that would beat it. The planters of this section like it better than they do the Gulet Gin.

Yours respectfully,
ALFRED SHERIFF.

TATE SPRINGS,
East Tennessee.

TATE SPRINGS are situated in the beautiful and fertile Bean's Station Valley, one and a half miles from Clinch Mountain, and ten miles from Morristown, on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, from which point a daily mail is received. They are surrounded by magnificent mountain scenery, in one of the highest and driest sections in East Tennessee, in the immediate vicinity of Chalybeate, Alum, Red, White and Black Sulphur Waters, and, all things considered, we are bound to acknowledge in this, as in all nature, the superior wisdom of the Creator in locating this inestimable blessing to mankind.

MEANS OF ACCESS.

Arrangements have been made with the principal railroad South for round trip tickets, which may be obtained at all the large cities and towns.

DAILY LINE OF HACKS.

Contracts are made with competent and responsible parties to run a daily line of hacks from Morristown to the Springs. The hacks will be new, and of the most comfortable and modern styles, gotten up expressly for this line. They are to meet all passenger trains at the depot, and look after the comfort and accommodation of all persons passing over their line. The hacks make their trips in day time.

Ladies and families traveling alone will be especially looked after and cared for, and their baggage also.

Hacks leave the Turley House immediately after the arrival of trains. By this means any Express or other packages can be conveyed to or from Morristown to the Springs.

The accommodations are still being extended, so that we hope to be prepared to entertain all of our guests comfortably. Among the new improvements are—

A spacious Ball Room.

ATLANTA:

WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1873.

The Christian Index.

This popular religious journal comes to us this week still more improved. Its contents are very interesting. Every Baptist in the State should have it. Address Jas. P. Harrison & Co., Atlanta, Georgia.

Georgia Crop News.

In Heard county, the News tells us the weather continues dry and the crops are badly suffering for rain.

Our own correspondent in Marietta writes us that the crops look well in Cherokee and Cobb, especially corn and cotton. Numerous local rains during the last three weeks will insure a fine yield of corn, and in some places it is better than an average. Cotton is generally very good and free of grass and weeds.

Audacious Scamps.

The telegraph tells us of a robbery on the Pacific Railroad, near Des Moines, Iowa, that for cool, bold, well-planned villainy equals anything of the kind of which we have read in many a long day. The remorseless rascals deliberately provided for the wholesale annihilation of an entire train of passengers to accomplish the robbery. Through the brave, prompt, watchfulness of the engineer, the passengers were saved, but he sacrificed his heroic life, and was the only victim.

The robbery was successful, however, and the details read like a romance of evil.

It is a curious feature of the matter that it is a fine illustration of that Ku-Klux strategy that was wont to have a spurious political significance in the South, but which really was invariably the convenient disguise of crime.

Fulton Superior Court.

A glance over the dockets of our Superior Court show that an immense amount of business still remains unfinished, notwithstanding the length of the last session. Aware of the well-known fact that no judge of this circuit ever despatched business with such rapidity as Judge Hopkins, or exhibited greater patience and perseverance in the effort to clear the dockets. We were quite surprised to discover that nearly one thousand cases go over from the last term, about as follows:

Appeal 21; equity 94; claim 53; illegality 13; common law 717; certiorari 28. This number, too, is exclusive of motions, (in many of which issues are joined) and the criminal docket. When we consider, in addition, the amount of new business at the next term, it becomes a question of serious moment how all these cases are to be disposed of, and furnishes our attorneys with a subject for earnest reflection. We cannot see how even Judge Hopkins, with all his energy and ability, can dispatch the business. What shall be done?

Cuba Libre.

General Quesada, the brother-in-law of President Cespedes, has arrived in New York, and will hereafter take charge of Cuban matters in this country, relieving Senor Agrulera who has heretofore been the representative in this country of the struggling government. General Quesada has an associate in his bosom friend, Senor Castillo. It will be remembered that General Quesada organized the successful Virginius expedition, which landed in Cuba, on the 7th inst., a very large amount of arms and amunition for the insurgents. He brings the intelligence that considerable pecuniary aid has been granted to Cuba by the Colombian government, and that the active and hearty sympathy of several other States in South and Central America is with the Cubans. Nothing can shake, he says, the loyalty of the people, both rich and poor, to the Cuban Republic, and its prospects never were brighter. It is now very easy to get in arms, and he believes that the distractions of Spain and the military strength of the insurgents will soon solve the question.

The Brooklyn Trust Company and the Bullock Bonds.

It matters little to the people of the country at large whether the President of the Brooklyn Trust Company committed suicide or not, or whether he overdrew his personal account one or two hundred thousand dollars. But it does concern the country to ascertain the reasons for such rapidly recurring betrayals of trust. We can get along better without them.

No man stood higher than Ethelbert S. Mills. He was believed to be wealthy; he was personally popular; in the art and social circles of Brooklyn he was especially prominent; and yet he has been slowly stealing the funds of a Trust Company that he was set to guard, for several years.

The company was organized about six years ago, and Mr. Mills was chosen the first President, which office he held up to the day of his death on the beach of Coney Island. It was not a bank of discount; but it was authorized to act as receiver, executor, trustee or guardian; to transact business for widows and minor children; to collect dividends, and to negotiate government securities. It business was of the gravest character. Its President was of the highest respectability.

There is nothing remarkable about the case; it is only a repetition of what we have latterly become accustomed to. How many other financial magnates of New York have appropriated to their own use money placed in their hands as a trust, no one knows or will know. It is only when their speculations come to grief, as in the case of Mr. Mills, that we know anything about their defalcations. Several such cases have occurred in the last few years, but not one of them is at work in the stone quarries of Sing Sing. No monied defaulter is punished, and so the demoralizing work goes on at the financial center.

Mr. Mills, it seems, speculated in real estate. He built rows of costly brown-stone front houses, which would not rent, or sell except at ruinous sacrifices. He was "carrying" large quantities of speculative city property, or rather the depositors and stockholders of the Trust Company were carrying them; for his account is, and for a long time has been, immensely overdrawn. In other words, he stole the funds entrusted to his keeping to carry on his real estate speculations, which resulted disastrously. If they had resulted fortunately, neither the public, nor the people pecuniarily concerned, would have known of the rottenness that these days of wild speculation had engendered.

The business of the company seems to have been conducted very loosely. $900,000 were loaned on the bonds of a bankrupt New England railroad company. There was a loan of $150,000 on $900,000 of Bullock bonds. The latter constitute an excellent straw security, and of course they would turn up on such an occasion. A new interest has sprung up in these bogus bonds since the defalcation, and in newspaper discussions about Georgia's liability, Henry Clews comes to the surface in no enviable manner. We trust that the victims of the latest defalcation of the period have something more substantial to fall back upon than the fraudulent issues of Bullock, Clews & Co.

A most important piece of political intelligence comes from Washington. It is that Senator Cameron has declared himself in favor of Gen. Grant for a third term. Mosby, Butler and Cameron! What a noble trio of leaders! Under such proud guidance will the great party of moral ideas march forward to fresh victories.

An exchange well says: "Let us thank Mrs. Dickens, who is still living in London in a very unobtrusive way, for never having been tempted by all the unpleasant things that have been said about her to tell her side of the story. They say she has a box full of "David Copperfield's" love letter, but has never proposed to give them to the public for her own vindication or the discomfeiture of any of her many slanderers."

President MacMahon is described by a Paris correspondent as of middle height, the body long and the legs short. He has dreamy eyes, an ordinary nose and a small mouth, framed in a sunburnt, colorless complexion, and short-cropped, snow-white hair, which would not have impressed one as the fitting exterior of a great Marshal of France, if the firmly-knit and beetling brows which contracted over the eyes did not tell of hard work and resolute energy.

Two Railroad Kings.

Correspondent Richmond Enquirer.]

Some year or two since, when the Hon. W. A. Smith was President of the North Carolina Railroad, he wrote to the Hon. R. R. Bridges, President of the Wilmington and Weldon Road, for a pass over his line. This letter wasn't even noticed. The Hon. W. A. Smith is now the President of the Western North Carolina Road, that runs from Salisbury to the mountians at old Fort. Last night the Hon. R. R. Bridges arrived at Salisbury in his splendid palace Pullman car, he and his family, and he was traveling like a railroad king up to the very mountains where Smith runs his road. Of course he supposed that all he had to do was to write a note telling Smith he and his palace car were here, and they'd be hitched on immediately, and the conductors and train hands would dance and bow attendance with doffed caps. So he wrote the note. Billy Smith replied, and refused to grant him this courtesy for two reasons: The first, because Bridges had acted so towards him; and the second, "because," wrote Smith, "the people living along the line of our road are a plain people, and they work hard; I make them pay when they ride, and were I to pass you free, in all this style and magnificence, these people would never get over cursing me so long as I lived." This was the substance of Smith's reply. He then sent for his conductor and told him if that palace car went over the Western North Carolina road Road, Colonel Bridges was to pay $25, and besides, actual fare for himself and every individual member of his family; and if the cash was not ponied up, to "switch off," the gorgeous Pullman at the very first turnout.

THE SHAH.

A Brief Description of his Mother.

The mother of the Shah of Persia is thus described by a recent writer, who, being a lady herself, may be presumed to have a quick eye to discern the peculiarities of a Persian toillette. She says: "The Shah's mother was dressed with great magnificence. She wore a pair of trousers of gold brocade. These Persian trousers are always very wide, each leg being wider than the skirt of a gown, so that they have the effect of an exceedingly ample petticoat, and, as crinolines are unknown, elegantes wear ten and eleven pairs of trousers, one over the other. (They call a European lady's dress "trousers with one leg.") The trousers of the Shah's mother were edged with a border of pearls embroidered on braid.

She had a thin blue cape chemisette, also trimmed with pearls, nearly meeting the top of the trousers, which are fastened with a string. A small jacket of velvet was over the chemisette, reaching to the waist, and on the head a small shawl studded with pearls and diamonds, and pinned under the chin. Her arms were covered with handsome bracelets, and her neck with costly necklaces. Her hair was in bands, and hung down to the multitudes of small plaits. She wore no shoes, her feet being covered with fine cashmere stockings. The palms of her hands and the tips of her fingers were stained with henna, her cheeks were well rouged, and her eyelids and eyebrows were covered with antimony.

The American Dead in Mexico to be Cared For.

Congress authorized at its last session that the President should provide out of the ordinary annual appropriations for the maintenance of United States military cemeteries, for the proper care and preservation and maintenance of the cemetery or burial ground near the city of Mexico, in which are interred the remains of officers and soldiers of the United States, and of citizens of the United States, who fell in battle or died in and around the city of Mexico. The graves of the soldiers are not distinctly marked, but the graves and tombs of some of the officers and citizens buried there are neatly enclosed with the usual evidences of respect. For a quarter of a century the cemetery has been in charge of the United States Consul, but has now been transferred to the War Department, and will be subject hereafter to the rules and regulations affecting the United States national military cemeteries. Colonel Mack, Inspector of Cemeteries, has just received a number of photographic views of the cemetery, and will visit the place next fall with a view of making such improvements as may be regarded as necessary.

From the New York Sun.]

It is the height of the season at the summer capital of the Republic. Every arrival of the trains on Saturday brought hundreds of pleasure seekers, and gay as the week had been it was dull and lame in comparison with the holiday garb which the Branch wore on Saturday. There are not so many bathers just now as there were a fortnight ago. The weather is cooler, and then between the attractions of the races and the Ocean Grove camp meeting, the beach, the avenues and drives are comparatively deserted during the middle hours of the day. When the representative of the Sun arrived at Leland's Ocean Hotel on Saturday morning, he found the long piazza's crowded with eager groups waiting for the coaches which were to carry them to the race course. All along the splendid turnpike to Monmouth Park was seen every imaginable kind of vehicle. It was a glorious day, light, fleecy clouds flying over a sapphire sky, and the landscape looking as fresh as though just out of a bath of the summer showers which fell on Friday. The cool breezes sweeping through the grand stand were strong enough to make a wrap or light summer shawl a very welcome addition to the pretty toilets displayed.

LIFE ON THE TURF.

It was a gay and animated scene that met the reporter's gaze when he entered that radiant cordon of beauty and chivalry, and scanned the field with his opera glass. The wavy outline of hills filling up the background, the long, level stretches of the track, the hurdles and brushwood and pools scattered over the field, which the winged coursers were to leap in the steeple-chase; the horses prancing up to the starting flag and prancing back again, awaiting the moment when the tap of the drum should send them flying away with an arrow rush; the jockeys in their bright liveries, the trainers and heavy betting men grouped around the judges' stand, the stately decorum of the gentlemen who were seated or standing under the canopied roof of the light and lofty structure—all these gave the members of the Monmouth Jockey Club a look of conscious pride as they walked around in their faultless field costume, with their badges fluttering from their buttonholes.

When the reporter got back to the hotel there was another crowd of New Yorkers streaming in. They came for a night of amusement, a dip in the surf, and a Sunday at the seaside. They swarmed like bees or butterflies or winged ants

ALONG THE BEACH,

or in the summer houses, or under the swinging baskets of exotics that sway in the breeze that sweeps through the long piazzas of the Ocean House. Dinner from four to six attracted great numbers to the dining room. Most of the ladies make their toilets and come in late to dine. They linger, too, at those little round tables. Perhaps it is the dainty entrees that detain them so long, perhaps the murmur of their own sweet voices mingling with the sound of the tinkling waters of the flower wreathed fountains, perhaps it is the popping of the champagne corks. But dinner like everything else, comes to an end after awhile, and after dinner comes the stroll on the beach at twilight, and then the hop. This was varied on Saturday night by an entertainment given by Madame Le Vert, who for the last week has been the lady lion of the Ocean Hotel. Her reading drew a number of the notable cottage people and not a few of the inmates of the house into the great parlor. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and their daughters, Mr. L. J. Phillips and family, Mr. Drexel, the millionaire banker of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. John Hoey, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Gawtrey, Mr. Paddock, Maggie Mitchell's husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Abecasis, Mrs. Croly, Jenny June, Mme. and Mr. Demorest, and Miss Vienna, Robert J. Doe, the lecturer, with his pretty daughter, Miss Flora, and a number of others. That veteran in society, journalism and war, Col. T. B. Thorpe, was

and announced the accomplishments and pedigrees of the performers as he introduced them. Mme. Le Vert bore the ordeal of the introduction with as much aplomb and smiling dignity as she doubtless displayed when in palmier days she was presented to the courts of Great Britain and Continental Europe, but pretty little Clara Fisher, who is a charming singer, seemed overpowered when the Colonel said that she was not only a niece of the late celebrated actress of that name, but was besides the descendant of the great Thomas Jefferson, and related to the inimitable Joe.

After the reading, which was judiciously brief, and sandwiched by the music of an excellent band, the dancers tripped it till midnight. The reporter wandered off to the beach with Colonel Thorpe and Robert Doe, and watched the great white waves rolling up the shore and the lovers cooing like turtle doves in the summer houses on the bluff.

"Isn't this a beautiful sight?" said Mr. Doe.

"Which do you mean," inquired Colonel Thorpe, "the ocean view or the scenes in the summer houses?"

"Both," said Robert Doe.

"Humph!" said Colonel Thorpe, "I think those people in the summer houses look like lunatics."

After this cynicism Mr. Doe was more reticent and less enthusiastic.

The next day, with a brilliant party, the reporter drove down Ocean avenue past

THE TWO COTTAGES OF THE PRESIDENT,

and then up the cedar avenue and through the beautiful grounds of John Hoey. They stopped at the cottages of Edwin Adams, Maggie Mitchell (Mrs. Paddock,) Chanfrau, and Mrs. James Wallack, the widow of the distinguished brother of Lester Wallack. The ladies and gentlemen of the buskin have greatly the advantage of the millionaires and politicians in the way of tasteful summer retreats. Their cottages are all surrounded by trees and shrubbery. Mrs. James Wallack's domain is very extensive, and her cottage a regular English cottage ornee, embowered in honeysuckles and roses, and overshadowed by immense trees grouped by nature. It is a study for an artist.

Chanfrau's home is the very home one would expect to find "Kit" in. He is the same hearty, genial gentleman off the stage as he is on it, a refined and modified "Kit," with a wife worthy of such a home nest as made for her.

Maggie Mitchell floated into her parlor to receive the party in a white polonaise that became her transparently fair face, set in its frame of golden tresses wonderfully well. She struck the reporter as being a sincere and simple mannered woman, not the least stagey in action or conversation.

Nearly every cottage that is to rent at the Branch this summer is taken, and the hotels pretty well filled. It is the summer capital in more than one sense. In the great hotels or in the parlors and libraries of the cottages and villas are planned and decided during the height of the season the political, financial, and great railroad schemes which are to engage Congress, Wall street, and the republic until the Long Branch season come again. The keenest brains and deepest schemes in the new world pillow their heads every night where the roar of the ocean lulls them to sleep. Jay Gould and Henry Clews, and Hatch the banker, and Secretary Belknap and Drexel are among the promenaders and bathers, and riders and drivers seen every day.

A BARON'S WIFE-MURDER.

An Old Man Shoots His Wife Because She Wants to Go on the Stage, and then Kills Himself.

Few murders have recently created a more profound sensation in the old world than the shooting of the young and beautiful Baroness Alvina von Gilmann, at Fryeberg, in the Grand Duchy of Baden, by her aged husband, the Baron von Gilmann, who had formerly been a Major in the German army, and who for many years had lived in retirement at an elegant chateau. Baron von Gilmann, at the time of the murder, was fully seventy years of age. He had never been married during his long life, until in the summer of 1871 he made, at the fashionable watering place of Wildbad, the acquaintance of a beautiful girl, Alvina Well, the only daughter of a widow in very humble circumstances. The young girl made so deep an impression upon the heart of the old Baron that he offered his hand to her, which she accepted with some hesitation, but finally, giving way to the importunities of her mother, who was dazzled by the wealth and aristocratic positon of M. von Gilman, they were married in the fall of 1871, and lived apparently in serene hapiness at the husband's chateau. The young wife was greatly pleased at the lavish liberality with which the Barn treated her, and carefully avoided giving him any cause for jealousy. His acquaintances, who knew him as a proud, irrascible man, were surprised at the change which his temper seemed to have undergone since his marriage. For since then he was all gentleness, and he never gave way any more to bursts of passion, to which he had formerly been subject.

In the winter of 1872 Baron von Gilmann and his wife frequently visited the Fryeburg Theater, and an irresistible mania for the stage suddenly seized the young Baroness. She asked her husband if he had any objection to her becoming an actress, and, when he told her she could not, she flew into a violent passion, and declared with streaming eyes that she would commit suicide if not permitted to become an actress. Violent scenes henceforth repeatedly took place.

The Baron was inflexible, and his stage-struck wife finally promised not to annoy him any further. Secretly, however, she conceived the idea of gratifying her irresistible whim, even if it should lead to a separation from her husbsnd. She wrote to Herr Bauernfeld, manager of the German theatre at Strasburg, a letter, in which she asked his advice as to her project of going on the stage. She sent him her photograph, and informed him also that she had expensive jewelry and fine dresses enough to appear in good style upon the stage. Baurenfeld wrote her a very sensible reply:

Madame, jewelry and fine dresses do not make an actress. In order to become one you must have talent and perseverance, without which even a lady of your fine appearance would inevitably fail. If you will come to Strasburg, and allow me to examine your qualifications for the stage, I may give you more encouragement; but understand that the "boards" are treacherous. Nine out of ten, who have tried it, have found them too slippery. ANDY BAUERNFELD.

This letter fell accidentally into the hands of the old Baron, and caused him to fly into a terrible rage. He hastened to his wife, and with trembling hands held the missive that was to prove fatal to both of them under her eyes. "Wretched woman," he cried, "what have written this man?" The Baroness was greatly frightened, and tried to pacify the old man by telling him that Bauernfeld's letter was in answer to one she had written to him months ago. The Baron now demanded the key of her writing desk, which he did not obtain until resorting to personal violence.

In the desk he found another letter, almost complied, by the Baroness, and addressed to the manager of the Stuttgart Theatre. His rage now knew no longer any bounds. Almost foaming at the mouth, he rushed to his bedroom and speedily appeared before his terrified wife with a loaded revolver in his hand. She fell upon her knees, and, in a heart-rending voice, implored him not to kill her. "Yes," he cried, "you have disgraced my honorable name—you shall die—and I will not survive the disgrace, either." He then fired three shots into his wife's breast, and then blew out his brains.

When the servants, hearing the report of the pistol, rushed into the room, they found their old master stretched on the floor, and stone dead. The young Baroness lay close to him, in a pool of blood. The feeble moans which she uttered showed that she was not yet dead. Medical aid was promptly summoned, but it was at once ascertained by the doctor that recovery was out of the question. She lingered five days in the greatest agony, and then died. Her remains and those of her husband were buried on the 19th of May in one coffin at the cemetery at Fryeburg.

Cameron Wants Grant For a Third Term.

Boston Post Washington Dispatch.]

Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, has declared himself, in a conversation with a leading politician of that State, in favor of General Grant for a third term. Cameron's great anxiety seems to be to defeat Speaker Blaine for the Presidency. He is against Blaine because, as he asserts, he is a Free-trader, although born and reared in Pennsylvania. But this is not the strongest objection of the Pennsylvania Senator to Blaine. Cameron never forgets an injury. He says Blaine forfeited all claims to his support when he appointed Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means. Mr. Dawes, it will be remembered, was the gentleman who introduced the resolution of censure upon General Cameron as Secretary of War, calling upon President Lincoln to remove him. For the last ten years Cameron has been working to have that resolution expunged from the records of the House of Representatives, but in vain. He asserts that if he lives he will carry Pennsylvania against Blaine on this account.

Lyceum Notes.

Wilkie Collins made his debut as a reader in London recently. The Times praises him very highly.

John Brougham has been engaged by the American Literary Bureau to give lyceum readings from his plays.

Charles Bradlaugh will give his first lecture in America next September. Subject—"The Impeachment of the House of Brunswick."

Professor Richard A. Proctor, the English astronomer, has been engaged to give a course of twelve lectures before the Lowell Institute, or Boston.

Gerald Massey will not only read from his own works, but also propound and answer from the platform this conundrum: "Why don't God kill the devil?"

QUADRUPLE TRACKS FOR THE N. Y. CENTRAL.—It is understood that the two additional tracks now constructing for the New-York Central and Hudson River Railroads will be completed in October. The new tracks are to be devoted especially to freight, and henceforth the present long detentions will be avoided. The running time will be reduced one half, and freight which now requires 24 hours between Buffalo and Albany, and 12 hours from Albany to New-York, will be carried through at twice the present rate of speed, and so accomplish the entire distance in 18 instead of 36 hours. An increased safety and regularity of passenger trains will also be secured. The New-York Central Road has leased the Harlem line, and that and the Hudson River Railroad will be connected near Hudson by a short cross road. This will open a direct line from Albany to Hartford. Ten years ago the New-York Central carried 5,000,000 passengers a year, at against 8,000,000 at present. Its freight as the same time was 2,158,000 tons per year, as against 4,500,000 at present.

PLAYING A LITTLE GAME.—Between the newspaper reporters and certain classes of sympathizing citizens, Kate Stoddard the murderess of Charles Goodrich, bids fair to become a first-class heroine, some of the latter even going so far as to propose subscriptions for her. The woman herself seems to be taking things easy. Monday morning she asked the jailor to furnish her with the morning papers, and when these were handed her she sat down and eagerly read all she could find about her case, criticising as she went along. A prominent official connected with the police expresses the opinion that the woman is playing a shrewder part than most people suspect, in other words, that she never murdered Goodrich at all, and only makes believe she did to shield another individual, not yet arrested, being well assured that she will not be hanged. This theory is obtaining many converts.

Bold Railroad Robbery.

Train Thrown from Track and Engineer Killed in Attempt to Prevent It.

Two Tousand Dollars and Three Tons of Bullion Captured.

A KU-KLUX AFFAIR.

DESMOINES, July 22.—An extraordinary and daring robbery was committed on a railroad train last night four miles west of Adair, on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad. At this point there is a sharp curve in the road, and here the robbers placed heavy timbers across the track to throw the eastward bound passenger train off. The engineer John Rafferty, saw the obstuctions in time to reverse the engine and apply the air-brake; but the robbers observing the movement, fired at him from an ambush and shot him dead.

The engine struck logs and went off the track into a ditch, and was followed by one of the baggage cars—the others remaining on the track. Several passengers were bruised, but none seriously hurt. The robbers, who were masked, after opening and emptying the safe of the express messenger of its contents, rode off on horseback. Among the passengers were thirty Chinese students en route for Springfield, Massachusetts.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

CHICAGO, July 22, 1873.

A special dispatch from Desmoines gives the following account of the attack on the train of the Chicago, Rockisland and Pacific Railroad last night The train left Council Bluffs at 5 o'clock, with four coaches and two sleepers—the sleepers being filled with a company of aristocratic Chinese on their way to New England colleges. There were also two baggage cars, in which was the through California mail and express matter consisting of nearly $2,000 in express safe and three tons of bullion. When about sixty five miles west of Desmoines about 8:30 P. M. at Sharp's curve, on the road in an isolated spot, with no houses for several miles in any direction, the train going about twenty-five miles an hour, the engineer, John Rafferty, suddenly saw one rail moved from its place about sixty feet ahead of the engine. He reversed the engine and applied the air-brake: While in the act bullets came in the engine like hail. The engine ran into the bank and turned over, throwing out the engineer, John Rafferty, and the fireman, the former falling on the latter dead. It is supposed that Rafferty was killed by concussion, as no bullet wounds were found on his body.

The fireman was unhurt.

The train being heavy ran about one hundred feet and stopped. The baggage cars doubled and were badly smashed. As soon as the train stopped several large athletic men masked in full Ku-Klux style appeared at the express car, in which were conductor Smith, Superintendent Boyce, express messenger John Burgess and three other persons, and commenced firing at them, yelling; "Get out of there, d—n you, get out of there."

Two bullets passed through the clothes of the conductor; one grazed the skull of the baggage-master; one on the side of the head of the express messenger. The inmates jumped out to the rear under cover of a half-dozen navy revolvers, Two of the robbers marched up and down the train, threatening to shoot any person who showed his head, saying: "Get down out of sight, damn you, or we will shoot you." The robbers then took about $2,000 from the express safe, add cut open the mail sacks, but took no letters, and then mounted horses and rode off across the prairie in a southern direction, the whole being done in less than ten minutes. They did not cut the telegraph wires and Superintendent Boyce at once hastened to the next station and telegraphed in all directions. Engines and posses were sent out from Council Bluffs on the Burlington and other roads to intercept robbers. Their dress and voices indicate that they were regular bushwhackers. They evidently intended to get the usual valuable express matter by this route Monday, but which went through on an extra train Sunday night. The robbers during the day stole a spike bar and hammer from a hand car house at the station and drew the spikes from one end of the rails, secreted themselves several rods away, and, as the engine approached, pulled them out of place. The promptness of the engineer in reversing the engine, and the use of air-brakes saved the passengers from harm. Not one was injured.

A track was at once laid around the wreck and the train resumed the trip, arriving here at 7:30 this morning, bringing the dead body of the engineer, who resided here, and who leaves a wife and three children.

The truth is the Mexicans are dealing with that question very tenderly and the punishment McKenzie indicted on the treacherous rascals engaged in the depredations on the Rio is not regarded so much as an offence against the international law as some would have it appear.

The Piratical Spaniards.

The Details of the Important Affair that Gave the Insurgents Some of the Finest Vessels in the Spanish Navy.

BAYONNE, July 22.—News received here through the Carlists, concerning the insurrection at Carthagena, throws additional light on the defection of the Spanish squadron in that port, which was made the subject of a government decree and vote in the Cortes yesterday.

The Insurgents after gaining control of the city seized the Castle Delss Galeras, a strong fort on the west side of the harbor, less than a thousand yards from the entrance which it commands completely. This gave them control of two lower battlements on the shore at the mouth of the harbor. They hoisted the red flag of the Commune over these forts and summoned the squadron lying in the harbor to surrender. The crews were in sympathy with the insurgents and the vessels fell into their hands without opposition. The chief command of the squadron is now entrusted to Pasas, who led the insurrection in the naval arsenal at Ferrol, in the Province of Corunna, some months ago. The vessels thus taken by the insurgents are the Victoria, iron clad of 24 guns; Numancia, iron clad of 25 guns; Petnan, iron clad of 40 guns; Almanza, screw frigate of 48 guns, and the steamers Fernando at Catalizo, Ferralana and Blasco Caray, not classified. The four vessels first named are among the finest in the Spanish navy.

The disease also prevails in other neighboring towns business is almost suspended, and most of those who are able are fleeing from infected places.

And the drug clerk laid his weary head on the window-sill and wept until his Elfrida came in with a lamp.

AN AMERICAN GENTLEMAN DRIVING A COACH IN ENGLAND.—As all the world knows, there has been a revival of the coaching system in England. There are seven or eight of these coaches which leave White Horse Cellar, Piccadilly, one of the old traditional starting places, every morning. The blowing of the guards' horn is a pleasant feature of these "revivals," which take one through the most delightful country in England at dashing speed. Most of these coaches are owned by three or four persons; but the most stylish of all, the "Brighton," has for its only owner and driver an American, George Tiffany of Baltimore, who graduated at Harvard in 1866, and was a welcome addition to Boston society, where his genial disposition and excellent dancing were fully appreciated. The young Baltimorean "toots his cattle" over the road at the rate of fifty-two miles in five hours. There are seven changes of horses, of which there are twenty-eight in all, for this sparkling team.—Cincinnati Gazette.

BROAD STREET BRIDGE.—Broad street is to have an iron bridge at last—a double intersection Pratt Truss with Trellis floor beams—to cost $14,000 in city bonds at 95 cents in the dollar.

STATE POMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.—A State Pomological Society will be organized in Atlanta on the 20th of August. A large attendance is anticipated from all parts of the State.

July 22, 1873. W. P. ORME, Secretary.

THE MOZART SOCIETY.—This famous musical circle held one of their regular meetings last night at their hall on Whitehall street. There was a very large attendance of the members, and also a number of friends. The Society individually and collectively well sustained its reputation for music, and the hours sped by most pleasantly. Some very beautiful pieces were rendered. We hope that the Mozarts will soon give a public exhibition.

MEMORIAL VOLUME.—Colonel James D. Waddell is preparing a memorial volume of the lamented Judge Linton Stephens. Friends who have preserved any of his letters are requested to send them per express to him at Marietta as early as possible. It will facilitate him in his labors very much to send them to him at once.

SOME ALLIGATORS.—Quite a crowd was collected around the express office yesterday afternoon to interview six juvenile alligators who had just arrived. They were brought up from the low country and consigned to Mr. C. H. Norman, of this place. One of them was between five and six feet long. The others were smaller. They looked about as ugly and villainous as anything we have recently seen, and will be placed on exhibition.

REAL ESTATE AGENTS.—In another column will be found the card of H. H. Carlton & Co., real estate agency, Athens, Georgia. Their business will consist in buying, selling, renting or leasing real estate, paying taxes, examining titles, as well as a general sale and purchase busidess.

They are also prepared to furnish laborers, house servants, etc., of whatever nativity desired, on short notice.

Parties calling upon the above firm will find them prompt, reliable and energetic.

A NEW DIRECTION FOR THE HAY TRADE.—On Monday last Mr. Samuel A. Echols received by the Air-Line Railroad, on commission, ten bales of new hay from Northeast Georgia, sent merely as a specimen to try the market with. It proved to be the finest hay seen in Atlanta for many a day. So far superior to anything usually found here that he sold it at once for a high price. We learn that there are hundreds of bales where this came from.

The value of the Northeast Georgia lands for growing hay is not known. They are equal to Kentucky.

RATHER ROUGH PLAY.—Yesterday afternoon Welborn Hunt, a United States prisoner at present confined in the jail, entered into some very violent play with his fellow-prisoners, and dislocated his shoulder joint.

The dislocated bone pressed upon the ribs below and caused the most intense suffering.

Doctor Pinckney was sent for and came at once to the jail.

With the help of three strong men the shoulder was re-set. When the bone passed back into its socket it snapped nearly as loud as a cap. Hunt felt instantly relieved of a great part of his pain, but we imagine that in future he will be more particular how he plays.

GRAND POMOLOGICAL AND HORTICULTURAL EXPOSITION IN AUGUST.—A grand Pomological and Horticultural Exposition will be held in the rooms of the State Agricultural Society in the Capitol, on the 20th of August next. The Exposition will begin at ten o'clock, A. M., and continue until ten o'clock, P. M.

The Committee of Arrangements are working energetically to make it the grandest affair ever held in the State. Our citizens should not only feel, but manifest, a deep interest in its success. We trust therefore they will second the efforts of the committee with all their ability.

PERSONAL.—The following were among the arrivals at the Kimball last night: A H Moore, C L Ross, New York; B Meyer, J R Hopkins, A Sloan, Savannah; H Woolf, Thomasville; A T Akerman, Cartersville; J P Fort, Macon; J M Selden, Augusta.

At the National among others we noted the following on the register last night:

J C Milam, Kingston; J E Meister, Dalton; G O Wynn, Newan; W M Landers, Newnan; G M Anderson, Griffin; G D Harwell, Griffin; J M Oates, Chattanooga; W D Palmer, Macon; W C Hewitt, Catoosa Springs; A Lewis, Cairo, Ill.; J A Mason, Baltimore; J D Alexander, Griffin; Ira E Smith, Brunswick; J T Powell, Macon; B G Neal, Rome.

At night the joint debate of the Few and Phi Gamma Societies took place.

The debaters were selected by their respective Societies for their merit as debaters.

Salutatorian—Mr. J. O. A. Wynn, of the Phi Gamma Society. Subject—Should the Government adopt a system of Compulsory Education?

Affirmative—Messrs. J. W. Fredrick, F. H. Richardson, E. M. Whiting, Few.

Negative—Messrs. C. F. Dowman, W. N. Sheats, O. L. Smith, Phi Gamma.

President—General A. H. Colquitt.

Owing to the absence of Gen. Colquitt, Bishop Pierce presided. The debate was good and very creditable to the young men engaged in it. Bishop Pierce decided the question in favor of the negative.

THE JUNIOR EXHIBITION

took place to day. At an early hour the audience commenced gathering until the Methodist Church, where the exercises were held, was well filled. The following young gentlemen spoke:

Music.

N T Burks, Henderson, Texas—Proper Function of Education.

W M Crow, Henderson, Texas—National Attractiveness.

E M Hammond, Atlanta, Ga—Practical Thought.

W E Keener, Augusta, Georgia—Excused.

Music.

S. L. Smith, (Excused) Oxford, Georgia—Agents and Agencies.

Talfourd Smith, Greensboro, Georgia—Indian Ethics.

D. F. C. Timmons, Oxford, Georgia—Religion and the Administration of Law.

All acquitted themselves well. Special mention might be made of the speeches of Young Hammond, of Atlanta, and Mr. Timmons, of Oxford.

DELIVERY OF PRIZES.

At the close of the speaking, Howard Van Epps delivered the prizes in a speech that was listened to attentively by all. His subject was emulation.

Atlanta may well be proud of her young orator, for to-day he illustrated what her sons were capable of doing; he lost none of that reputation as a forcible speaker that he had gained on other occasions.

Mr. W. A. Candler, of Villa Rica, gained the first prize, and Mr. J. A. Wright, of Oxford, the second.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock occurred the

RUMORED DUEL.—The absence of T. J. Phillips from the city, coupled with the fact that J. F. Shecut is reported to have gone off with him, has given rise to the rumor of a hostile meeting between Mr. Phillips and Col. J. F. Waddell, of Alabama. The Columbus Sun of yesterday says:

"Rumors regarding a duel were general all along the business streets yesterday."

"The probabilities on good authority last night were that the affair would be settled. Rumors are plentiful."

Mr. J. F. Shecut is registered among the arrivals at the Rankin House at Columbus on the 20th. Nothing definite is known in this city concerning the affair, so far as we are advised, except the absence of the parties named.

PENCILGRAMS.—Next week shooting at pigeons on the wing will be the fun. Those eminent "crack shots," Drs. Collins and Cooper, will be on hand with six-inch columbiads.

A negro child, about two years of age, at Dalton vomited up a few days since a snake eleven inches in length, with an inch or more bitten off. The snake lived only an hour. It was striped like a garter snake. It is supposed that she drank the snake when it was small, but it is conjecture only.

A young bachelor merchant sent his sweetheart a barrel of "Home, Sweet Home" flour, in the hopes that it would rise, and that he would be needed. His cake is all dough.

Rev. J. R. Mayson was in town yesterday disguised under a new churn.

If you would secure a comfortable residence in a healthy town, attend the sale of residence lots at Stone Mountain on the 30th.

Have no jars in your family unless it be Law's fruit jars.

CONSTITUTIONAL LACONICS.—The roseate watermelon is deluging the Gate City. Mountain piles come and disappear. No choleratic echoes yet awakened.

The Macon Telegraph devotes a solid half column to wailing over the cantankerous mosquito, which it dolefully dubs "an inestimable, intangible, aggravating nuisance." If Reese calls "them whoppers" that ravage Macon "intangible," the man must have an idea that nothing less than a steam elephant is a tangible thing.

The tintinnabulation of the marauding musquito is beginning to faintly persecute the sleepy darlings of Atlanta.

Marietta is fast filling up with elegant summer loiterers. The Kennesaw House looks lively once more and is vocal with the chatter of beauty and the squeal of the spring chicken.

The approaching completion of the Air-Line Railroda, which, it is believed, will be done by the middle of August, is awakening a wide-spread rejoicing. Let Atlanta have a grand splurge.

FOR THE CHAIN GANG.—A few days ago a policeman had in charge five females, three white and the remainder colored, destined for the chain gang. The marks of debauchery and degredation were set on each of their faces. One young white girl, despite her dirty gown and dirtier face, was quite good looking; but there was an absence of shame too sad to contemplate. On all the faces of these prisoners there was a look of resignation, that resignation which is begotten of despair, while apparently they were quite jolly. But no one could measure the depth of that despair, when surrounded by cold-hearted men and tantilizing boys and callous guards.

One can say what they might have been; or, what they might be, if only there was a home, or house of correction, where these poor fallen creature could find a word of comfort, work suitable to their organizations, and a removal for a while from the contaminating society of those beyond recall. The condition of this portion of society calls loudly for some means wherewith to better it. Who will inaugurate a movement looking to the uplifting of some of our poor fallen women? Cannot some be found?

LETTER FROM NORTHWARD.

Breakfast and Supper Houses—Beautiful Scenery—The Kennesaw Route—Happy Little Homes—Our Correspondent's Mind Looketh that Way.

ON THE TRAIN, July 19, 1873.

Editors Constitution: I am not afflicted with that singular malady (a desire to write,) that a good many persons suffer with when away from home, and will therefore not trouble you with a long letter, which is the only panacea for that strangest of diseases.

Comfortably seated in the "Leavenworth," we quietly passed from under the Passenger Shed in Atlanta, at 6 P. M., on the 8th, bound for the "Great Metropolis." Imagine my disappointment when I had traversed the whole train and found not a single familiar face. I returned to my own car and yielded to my fate, consoling myself with the reflection that if I had nobody to talk to, I could amuse myself by thinking of the supper house, and when the conductor, in answer to my enquiry, informed me that there was no supper house, I thought that of all things I was the most miserable. I wonder if people don't eat on that road? Are they etherial, and can they subsist on their own fancies? As for me, I like something more substantial.

This is the only objection that any one can have to the "Kennesaw Route." Its appointments are excellent, and the time good, but really the passengers ought to be afforded an opportunity to eat. As I had nobody to talk to, nothing to read, and nothing to eat, I soon, in self-defense, "put my self in my little bed," and was in a short while in the lap of repose, perfectly oblivious to my many misfortunes. Early the next morning we were aroused with the pleasant salutation "Breakfast House." I did not see a single passenger turn over and rub his eyes, but they all, with one mind and one wish, arose and joined in the chorus, "Breakfast House."

About 11 A. M. we reached Bristol and changed cars for Lynchburg. The country along this route is certainly most especially after crossing into Virginia. The first thing that, attracted notice and excited admiration, was the News River, a stream some two hundred yards wide, which floats along smoothly and gently, as if it were utterly indifferent to everybody and everything about it, and really I believe it is. About midway the stream, rowing a little batteau, was a woman; she sitting in one end and her dog in the other. She looked as indifferent as the stream, paying no attention to the passing train, but seemed satisfied "to paddle her own canoe." This river runs parallel with the railroad for several miles, and furnishes the traveler some very pretty scenery. I was much interested watching its wanderings, and though how much like the crooked ways of life its waters ran.

Soon, however, we parted company and the river glided silently away, hurrying on to mingle its waters in the great ocean, and we wended our way through the gorges of the Alleghanies, hastening to a destiny we knew not of. Looming up most prominent amid this magnificent range of mountains may be seen the celebrated

PEAKS OF OTTAR.

These, however, may be called a part of the Blue Ridge, some twenty-eight miles from the Alleghanies. To our left, as the train was dashing through the mountain passes, could be seen slowly receding behind one of the tallest peaks of the Alleghanies the setting sun.

Rifts of cloud had gathered about the place, as if to witness as sentinels the safe departure of the great luminary of the day, and as his last rays lingered on the mountain top, reflecting back upon these little clouds, giving them the pink and golden hue. I could but wish for the power of the painter, that I might transfer the picture to paper, and thus perpetuate one of the most vivid and beautiful of nature's panoramas. All around were scenes of rarest combinations of luxuriance and loveliness. Along this beautiful country are which are now waving with the ripening harvest. The country seems to have recovered entirely from the effects of the war. Crook and Hunter, you will remember, attempted this route and were making considerable headway when met by General Early and repulsed—completely routed—and that part of the beautiful valley of the Shenandoah resounded no more with the sound of the bugle-horn of an invading foe.

Beautiful farm houses are scattered all along the way, whose pleasant and inviting exterior indicate unmistakably the domestic felicity within. I could but think of our friend, Col. B. "The Farmers' Poet," if he had been present I am certain that poetry would have had added to its already long list of gems another that would have shone with equal lustre to any.

Proceedings of Council.

ATLANTA, GA., July 22, 1873.

Council met pursuant to call. Present Hon. C. C. Hammock, Mayor, and a full Board of Aldermen, except Aldermen Beatie and McLendon.

BROAD STREET BRIDGE.

The Special Committee on the bids for building the Broad Street Bridge made the following reports:

Your joint special committee to whom was referred the several plans, specifications and bids, for building an iron bridge across the railroad cut on Broad street, having carefully examined all the plans and bids submitted, respectfully recommend the acceptance of the proposition of Wilkins & Post's bridge, with iron trellis girder, at $14,000—one-half in bonds bearing 8 per cent., and half in cash, monthly estimates at 90 per cent., as the work progresses; the reservation to be in bonds only.

L. P. GRANT,
JOHN H. FLYNN,
M. CORPUT.

Mr. W. Rushton was called from the city before the division of the committee, but favored the Post plan of bridge.

We, of the Committee, recommend the acceptance of the Canton, Ohio, Bridge Company, Frank M. Hight, agent, as the plan proposed is equal to any, and the entire consideration, $14,000, is in bonds of the city, bearing 8 per cent, and only one fifth to be paid before completion.

D. A. McDUFFIE, Chairman.
JOHN F. MORRIS,
W. B. BASS.

The bid of Wilkins & Post was for a 70 foot bridge, with two trusses, 1 carriage way 50 feet wide and 2 walk ways, 10 feet each for $14,000.

A subsequent letter was received from Wilkins & Post, stating that they would take the bonds at 85½ cents.

Mr. Hight's bid was also modified, he agreeing in writing to put up a double intersection Pratt truss with Trellis floor beams for $14,000, taking 20 year 8 per cent. bonds of the city of Atlanta at 95 cents.

Ald. Dodd moved to accept the proposition of Mr. Hight, he giving good bond and security for the performance of the work. The vote was unanimous, Ald. Langston voted yea in favor of the award, but nay against the 70 foot bridge.

The city attorney was instructed, in connection with the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to prepare the necessary papers and bonds.

GEORGIA WESTERN RAILROAD.

By Alderman Dodd:

Resolved, That his Honor the Mayor appoint a committee of three to vote the stock of the city of Atlanta in the Georgia Western Railroad on the 24th.

Adopted. Committee—Dodd, Brotherton and Rice.

Council thereupon adjourned.

THE LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ADJOURNED.—The Legislature, at its last session, appointed a joint committee of both branches of the Assembly to meet during the recess and patiently investigate the defalcation of Foster Blodgett. That committee has been in session in this city two weeks, and adjourned yesterday.

The previous Legislature, by appropriate committee had investigated this matter and found Blodgett's default to be considerably more than the amount of his official bond as Superintendent of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, and upon their finding, a judgment has been issued against his bondsmen for the full amount of the bond—$20,000.

These bondsmen and Foster Blodgett have resisted the payment of the execution in every way they could. The case has been before the Supreme Court, and recently the sham pardon granted by Judge Conley while he was filling the Gubernatorial chair and playing the part of Chief Executive, has been urged before the Superior Court as a bar to the enforcement of the judgment against the securities. In all these moves the courts have decided against Blodgett and his securities, holding them to the payment of the bond.

One special point made by the securities was that many of the items composing the account which the previous Legislative committee had found due were erroneous—alleging that they were able to show that to be the case, but were denied a hearing or the privilege of introducing testimony, etc., and it was particularly to meet this objection, that the committee which has just adjourned was raised and held their late meeting.

While holding this session, they opened the doors wide, summoning every witness desired, and fully examining every point or question raised by the defendants or their counsel, and remained in session till they said they were through and had no other witness or matter to introduce, and had presented their whole case.

The committee will not come to a conclusion—will not prepare a report—till the Legislature meets. Their adjournment yesterday was to assemble here again a few days before the meeting of the General Assembly, till which time their conclusions will not be known. All we can now say is, that they have given a patient and full hearing to the defense to their entire satisfaction. We have no doubt they will come to a correct conclusion—one that will be sustained by truth and equity. Of course no one can say how they will report.

THE COURTS.

Proceedings of the Commissioners' Court Yesterday—Important Trial for a Felony—Criminal Matters in the Justices' Courts.

The Commissioner's Court.

The trials before United States Commissioner W. B. Smith opened yesterday with the case against S. A. Pinion, of Dawson county, charged with working in an illicit distillery in that county. He was defended by Messrs. Hill & Conley, who cleared him of this charge.

A new warrant was then immediately taken out by the Government, placing the offense in Fickens county. Upon this warrant the prisoner declined an investigation, and gave a bond of $100.

The next case tried was against J. J. Callaway, of Marietta, for hauling five empty casks with stamps upon them, without obliterating or effacing the same. This charge is a felony under the United States law, and punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. The prisoner was caught hauling the casks from Powder Springs to Marietta, with the intention of filling them with whisky at the latter place, and returning. The case was stoutly contested by Mr. Tollison for the prisoner, and Thomas for the government. The Commissioner required the prisoner to give an appearance bond of $1,000, and remanded him to the custody of the Marshal.

The last case tried was against Marian Evans, of Dawson county, for retailing whisky unlawfully. The evidence was very weak, and the warrant was dismissed.

It is probable that one other case will be tried in this court to-day.

The Justice's Court.

Justices Butt and Sasseen, yesterday, tried a peace warrant case between Thomas Bailey as prosecutor, and Henry Clark, Jacob Clark, and Frances Wagner, as defendants. The parties are all negroes. The Justices required each of the defendants to give a bond to keep the peace in the sum of $100.

Immediately upon the conclusion of this case the prosecutor Bailey was in turn tried upon a warrant taken out by the above defendants for simple assault. He was also required to give a bond of $100 for his appearance before the City Court.

Justice E W. Munday had some little business also yesterday.

J. C. Bridges, colored, was tried before him yesterday upon a warrant charging him with assault and battery committed the 21st day of July upon one Humphrey Leslie. It appeared upon the trial that this very same case had been tried some time ago before Justice W. P. Hammond. The warrant was consequently dismissed at the prosecutor's costs.

Mr. Finley represented the State. Thrasher & McAfee contra.

Yesterday afternoon, Thomas Turner, a negro, was tried in this court for burglary in the night time. The warrant was taken out by Mr. M. Land, and alleges that on the night of the 19th of this month Thomas broke into and entered the store house of said Land, and feloniously stole goods and merchandise of the value of $20. The evidence for the State was very weak, and failed to connect the defendant with the burglary. The warrant was dismissed at the prosecutor's cost. Mr. Thrasher represented the defendant.

Station House Report.

A negro, by the name of John Sutton, was arrested yesterday afternoon by the police, upon suspicion of being concerned in the recent robbery of the blind man, Mr. William Land, and of having in his possession some of the stolen goods. He will be held for trial.

Besides this there were two city arrests for being drunk and disorderly.

THE First Baptist Church and congregation of this city have been much instructed and comforted on the two past Sabbaths with able and finished sermons from Rev. Dr. Shaver.

Rev. E. W. Warren, the pastor, though as is hoped rapidly improving, is still feeble, and his people have kindly given him a respite for two months, so as to enable him to command his own time, and indulge in such leisure as may be needed after many years of faithful service.

Dr. Shaver has generously consented to occupy his pulpit for a time, and has began the service with some of the most solemn, interesting, and comforting sermons it has been our fortune to hear for a number of years.

Always clear and profound, this distinguished divine never fails to carry his hearers with him into the depth of gospel consolation. Go and hear him.

FOR LOSS of Appetite, Dyspepsia, Indigestion Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms, FERRO-PHOSPHORATED ELIXIR OF CALISAYA made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic. As a stimulant tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it has no equal. If taken during the season it prevents fever and ague and other intermittent fevers. d&w

MIDSUMMER MALARIA.—At this season the sun liberates from the soil the water and the filth of cities immense quantities of unwholesome gasses which the strongest can scarcely inhale with impunity, and which develop the most distressing diseases in the weak and feeble. It is, therefore, of paramount importance to invigorate the body in hot weather. Vitalize and strengthen the stomach and the nervous system with at least two doses per day of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and you will be sure to escape the fits of indigestion, attacks of billious colic, sick headaches, diarrhoeas and dysenteries which are so common at this season. Be prudent. A little care and forecast exercised now may prevent your being prostrated by remittent or intermittent fever, or by chronic bowel or liver complaint throughot the fall. When vigor is oozing out of every pore under an almost vertical sun, this genial vegetable tonic supplies to the nervous system an aliment which enables it to withstand the drain.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Billous Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, where the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period, not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHOEA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

Price, 50 cents a Box.

july1-d1m F. W. STOY, [illegible]

New York Newspaper Gossip.

Correspondence Chicago Journal.

And now there is a new story afloat to the effect that the World newspaper is in the market for sale to the highest bidder; that Mr. Marlee, owing to ill health desires to retire from journalism, [illegible] parties that the Democracy [illegible] decided Democratic organ, etc. I know not if there be any truth in these rumors which are floating through the various newspaper offices here, and perhaps I do wrong to repeat them. They have been started before without any foundation, and perhaps they may have no more basis now. As a newspaper, the World cannot now compare with any of the other large morning dailies. But for finished editorials and elaborate political essays, perhaps, none of them can compare with it. Probably one error of the World has been in concentrating too much of its forces and ability on the editorial page and letting the news columns look after themselves.

The arrangements for starting a new daily paper in Brooklyn are being pushed rapidly forward, and it is announced that half a million of dollars will, if necessary, be expended in placing it upon a sound basis. It is furthermore announced that the new daily will fight the Brooklyn ring tooth and nail, and keep up an incessant fire upon the journals, Republican as well as Democratic, which are controlled by this ring. But confidence in these assertions as to reform is considerably shaken by the fact that the principal projector of the new paper is himself believed to have had a bad record. The talk of newspaper circles is that Mr. Henry C. Bowen, owing to his unfortunate controversy with Henry Ward Beecher, and his connection with the Woodhull scandal, will conclude to sell not only the Brooklyn Daily Union, but the New York Independent.

Musical.

Thirty-seven volumes of autographic scores by Adolphe Adam have been given to the Paris Conservatoire Library by the widow of the composer.

It is stated that Madame Alboni (the Countess Pegoli) intends to give up her residence in the Champs Elysees in Paris, and to live for the future in Milan.

Mr. Mapleson will give a six weeks' winter season of Italian opera at Covent Garden, London, commencing in November. Mlle. Kellogg is among the artistes engaged.

Herve is composing a new opera bouffe, in three acts, to be called "Le Cid de Normandie," which will be produced in this winter, and will, in all probability, be shortly afterwards played in London.

The Tennessee journals have published an appeal to the Beethovenists to afford aid to the widow of Carl Beethoven, the nephew of the great compositor. The widow, it seems, had a small allowance for a short time from the opera house at Vienna, but it was withdrawn when the new administrative arrangements were made.

The lady string orchestra of Vienna comprising 31 players, with Vrau Anna Weinlich as conductor, are given concerts at the Musikverein with great success. The wind and percussion instruments are in the hands of youths. They play the Strauss repertoire chiefly. Two violinists, Fraulein Jerva and Vrau Suchy, and a violoncellist, Fraulein Dellinger, are much admired. The ladies are all dressed alike, in white, with roses.

A Shower of Strange Reptiles.—A dispatch from St. Paul, dated July 15, says: A gentleman from Elk River, in Sherburne county, tells of a shower of reptiles which fell upon a meadow on the farm of Edward Upham, near that place, on the morning of the 3d inst., during a heavy rain and wind storm. The meadow, he says, was thickly strewn with the bodies of the strange creatures, none of which were discovered alive. They are described as about six inches long, having gills and fins like fish, but having also four legs each, about two inches long and terminating in claws. One person who saw them declared that like creatures exist only in the waters of Mexican lakes, from whence he supposed they might have been caught up in a water-spout and been carried along by the wind until they were dropped on Mr. Upham's meadow.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.

The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would

PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN

At one and the same time.

Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. The important desideratum is

Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pill.

Which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produces no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach, and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PURGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of diseases, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.
Principal office, 18 and 20 Platt St. New York.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.

It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.

In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to billous derangement.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA

is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties: it will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

SOUTHERN REMEDY!

NO HUMBUG.

I have been asked by a number of our citizens why I do not make known through our periodicals my Preparation for the cure of Dysentery, Diarrhœ, Cholera Morbus and Dentition or (Cutting Teeth) of Children. Its operation and action appear to be a specific if not infallible. Nothing has ever been offered to the public as a cure for the above diseases that is its equal, which by their drain upon the bowels has so often proved fatal, and by having a bottle of the SOUTHERN REMEDY in your house and take or give it on first symptoms, you need not have fears of the much dreaded epidemic, Cholera. To be convinced of its virtue it is only necessary to procure one bottle and use as directed on the bottle. It can be had at the Drug Store of Heard, Craig & Co., and others, and my office, Peachtree street, Powell Building. S. T. BIGGERS, M. D.

P. S.—You are referred to the following gentlemen, who have used it for several years in their families: G J Foreacre, E W Holland, Wm L Hubbard, J R Wallace, O A Lochrane, A K Seago, R M Farrar, N R Fowler, J R Murchant, W P Hammond, W H Frizzell, Edward Purtell, Wm F Busby, Anthony Murphy. july5—deod2m
